WASHINGTON, May 4.—Yesterday was the last day for registration under the McCreary act. It is learned that there has been a general compliance with the law in all parts of the country. The only notable exception to the rule, as far as learned, has been in the mountainous districts of Montana, where deep snows have prevented those living in the interior from reaching points where registration books were open. In these sections deputies have been obliged to travel on snowshoes and endure hardships which the Chi-nese would hardly be expected to been obliged to travel on snowshoes and endure hardships which the Chinese would hardly be expected to undergo.

According to the census returns of 1890, there were approximately 107,500 Chinese in this country, and it is believed that about this number have registered. Under a recent opinion of the Attorney-General, Chinese merchants who left the United States temporarily, prior to November $$, 1893, will be permitted to return within a reasonable time, providing their individual names appear in the firm designated. Members of firms whose individual names do not appear, except in the general designation of "company," will not be permitted to return. While no ruling has yet been made on the points, it is believed that members of firms who left the United States prior to November 3, without knowing, as the law then stood, that they would not be permitted to return, will be allowed to prove that they are bona fide members of firms; provided, however, that the firm name be at once changed so as to include their several names.

It is the opinion of some of the officials that if this distinction is literally and rigidly enforced, fully 90 per cent. of all the merchants who left this country prior to November 3 will be debarred from returning.

SCOTTDALE (Pa.,) May 4. - The north end of the Connellsville coke region is in a fever of fear and excite-ment tonight. The terrible work at the Painter plant of the McClure Company, bad as it was in itself, is feared as still more foreshadowing the begin-ning of times and conditions that are inevitable unless this strike is speedily

The battle today was between strik-ing Poles, a small number of deputies and a comparatively few men at work at the Painter plant. Sanford White and Chief Clerk Ewing B. Roddey were terribly beaten and are in a critical condition tonight. Five men and two women on the strikers' side were shot and two of the men are ters have been arrested and are now in Uniontown jail. the 24th inst., and was idle until last Wednesday.

Early this morning Joe Sconesky's wife went about to the other houses and got the women of the striking Poles to join her in a raid on the plant. About 6 o'clock she had 150 men, women and children in the ranks, ready for the raid. The men remained in the rear and the women and children, led by Mrs. Sconesky, made a rush for the cokeyards.

This region has seen many savage affairs in which women unsexed themselves by deeds of violence, but the old-timers say that never before has there been seen such a spectacle as this. Every person in the assaulting party had some sort of a striking weapon, even the children screaming as they flourished sticks, suited to their size. Many of the women bore axes and some of the men of the mob carried baseball bats and hatchets. White was the first one on whom a blow fell. Mrs. Sconesky had a club and her hushand wielded an axe. White went down before the front rank of the raiders. Roddey and a clerk named James Tarr saw him fall. In the face of the fearful odds these two men sprang to his rescue and fought their way to his side. Then the frantic raiders fell upon Tarr and Roddey, as White struggled to his feet, but covered with blood.

The three men fought desperately, blood.

The three men fought desperately, but the odds were too great, and finally all were down again under the feet of the mob. Roddey was beaten and cut about the head almost as badly as White.

THE ATTACK, SCOTTDALE (Pa.,) May 4.—A riot occurred at the Painter Works of the McCure Coke Company at 6 o'clock this morning. The company made an effort to start this and other plants on Tuesday, and today women determined to drive the blacklegs from work with the pans, plubs, coke forks work with tin pans, clubs, coke forks and brooms.

They marched to the coke yards. Sanford White, the mine superintendent, Ewing B. Roddy, the book-keeper Sanford White, the mine superintendent, Ewing B. Roddy, the book-keeper and a lot of deputies were on guard. A shot was fired to scare the women and the men rushed to the scene. White opened fire on the crowd that numbered over one hundred. At first fire three men fell wounded, one shot through the thigh, one through both legs and a third in the neck. The women carried off the wounded and the infuriated men set upon White and Roddy. White was beaten over the head, knocked down, kicked and bruised about the body. His recovery is doubtful. A big Hungarian held White down and was standing over him with an axe, when he was knocked down by James Tarr. While all this was going on, the deputies, who had begun to use their Winchesters, shot one woman, who is said to be dying. It is now believed at least sixteen rolters were shot. There is great excitement throughout the entire region. The strikers are becoming desperate and mobs are assembling at various points to raid the plants. Dr. W. H. Cole, the company's physician, states that fifteen strikers went down in three charges. Three men and one woman were carried off the ground after the first charge, and when the mob finally retreated they bore away at least ten more. Three wounded were left near the works, two of whom will die. White is suffering intense agony and his recovery is doubtful.

It is feared that the foreigners will avenge the death of their countrymen. It will not be a surprise here should the strikers resort to dynamite to blow tne strikers resort to dynamite to blow up the works.

Sheriff Richards of Fayette county is at the scene of battle with forty men, armed with Winchesters, and has already arrested twenty persons who are now on the way to Uniontown.
Tonight White is in the Miners' Hospital at Connellsville. The latest reports are that he will die. Roddey was brought to his home here. He is vomiting blood and is very badly injured. Two of the Poles shot in the melee are pronounced to be in a very dangerous condition and are likely to die. Sixty-three rioters, among them twelve women and ten children, have been taken to jail and warrants for fifty others have been sworn out, but they cannot be found.
Tonight the Painter plant is in charge of a large number of deputies and the company is determined to operate it.

TROUBLE IMMINENT.

CONNELLSVILLE (Pa.,) May 4.-The action of the coke companies in arming a large force of men in the arming a large force of men in the Vanderbilt region prevented a rlot there today. The mob that closed down the Fort Hill works yesterday remained in camp all night preparing to attack the Paul and Nellie but when they learned an army of deputies was patroling the works they concluded not to attack and dispersed. The strikers have a code of signals, by which they can be collected at any point in the vicinity on short notice, but the operators say they will keep the deputies on guard as long as there is any danger of violence.

they will keep. the deputies on guard as long as there is any danger of violence.

The men at Fort Hill, who were forced out returned to work immediately after the mob had dispersed and are working under protection of fifty Winchesters. The formidable display of guns at Moyer also discouraged the mob of strikers there and they dispersed at midnight.

At no time since the strike was inaugurated has violence been so imminent as now. The wholesale evictions to be made and the resumption by the company are sure to incite violence. The companies say they will start unless the Rainey works are closed down tomowow. Rainey is securing all the large contracts at handsome figures, and the other companies will not stand idly by and see themselves ruled out of the market. Two of the leading companies announce they will start up all their works if in doing so they have to deputize half their men and ask for more protection from the State troops.

A number of deputies were sent to the Calumet works today. There is every indication of trouble there, and at Monmouth. Miners from Latrobe and other places gathered there and are camped on the hillside. During the day they paraded to and fro past the works at Monmouth. The red flag was prominently displayed and incendiary threats were uttered.

The Congressional Committee Reports.

The Famous Strike Order Not Legal.

Reason for Not Recommending Impeac ment Prodeedings-The Right of Employees to Strike-Receiver-

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Representa-tive Boatner, chairman of the special committee of the House Judiciary ted Press Leased-wire Service.

Committee, appointed to investigate the Northern Pacific decisions of Judge Jenkins, today submitted to the full Judiciary Committee a majority report of the special committee. The report says the orders of the court reducing wages and prohibiting employees from quitting work were a gross abuse of the power of the court and were supported by neither reason nor authority. They were beyond the jurisdiction of the Judge, and were, therefore, void, and the second or supplementary writ was more reprehensible than the first, because the Judge was advised before he rendered it of the exact object and purposes sought to be accomplished.

The report was discussed for two nours, but no action was taken by the full committee. The report was made the special order for the full committee tuli committee. The report was made the special order for the full committee next Tuesday. Representative W. A. Stone of Pennsylvania, the Republican member of the committee, dissents from the majority report on the ground that it is an attempt to make a judicial ruling, but he has not yet submitted a minority report. After recting the well-known facts and circumstances leading up to the granting of the two orders of the injunction by Judge Jenkins, the majority report proceeds as follows:

"Nothwithstanding the suggestion by the employees that they desired to confer, the orders were immediately obtained without waiting for the results of a conference or being in possession of any definite information of the intention of the employees with respect to the schedules upon which they solicited a conference. The original order received on December 19 had a two-fold aspect: It reduced existing wages and enjoined and prohibited those who were to receive them if they remained in the service of the company from quitting the service, with or without notice, so as to cripple the property or injure the operations of the road. On being adthe service, with or without notice, so as to cripple the property or injure the operations of the road. On being advised that if, when so ordered or advised by the officers of the organization to which they belonged, the men should quit the service in a body, and, under the constructions placed upon the existing order (the injunction) by those who had obtained it, they would therby commit a contempt of court, and were liable to punishment for so doing, the officers of the company immediately asked for, and the judge granted the second order of injunction December 23.

granted the second order of injunction December 23.

"The object of this was to insure to the company the compulsory service of the operatives then in its employ, because under the first order of injunction the men could not quit without being guilty of contempt, and would not do so unless ordered by the officers of their several organizations, and if these officers were prohibited from advising the strike, it was perfectly evident that the officers so enjoined could not discharge this function of their office, and the men could not quit when prohibited from doing so by the court, and not authorized to do so by the organization where charge this function of their office, and the men could not quit when prohibited from doing so by the court, and not authorized to do so by the court, and not authorized to do so by the court, and not authorized to do so by the court, and not authorized to do so by the court, and not authorized to do so by the court, and not authorized to do so by the organization by whose rules and regulations they were governed. That this was the object sought to be obtained that the order was drawn to effectuate it, and it was signed by the judge with that intent; the language of the order and the concomitant circumstances left no room for doubt.

"Your committee has no hesitation in declaring that the orders rendered were a gross abuse of powers of the court; were supported by neither reason nor authority; were beyond the jurisdiction of the Judge, and were therefore void. The second or supplementary writ was more reprehensible than the first, because the Judge was advised before he rendered it of the exact object and purpose sought to be accomplished. There was no suggestion in either of these letters of any fear of illegal acts, but the fear of a suspension of traffic, of an attending damage to the road and inconvenience to the public were the sole reasons for the action which the Judge took.

"Your committee also finds that no measures looking to a strike had been inaugurated, nor does any seem to have been in contemplation, nor does it appear that any of the persons named or referred to in the writ of injunction have remained in the service of the company against their will. It does appear, however, that while they regarded the writ as void, they believed that so long as it was in force they were bound to obey it under the penalty of punishment for contempt if they violated it, and this consideration might have been more effective than they were aware of in inducing them to remain in the service of the receivers.

"Your committee does not concur in the opinion of the Judge that the decisions rendered in the Toledo cases

Judges Taft and Ricks et al., support the contention in the case under consideration. On the contrary, both of the cases clearly recognize the principle that courts of equity cannot enforce the specific performance of the contract for personal service by writs of injunction, and other processes, but that in such cases the remedy is at law by an action for damages.

"They also clearly recognize the right of the laboring people, as a means of selling their labor at higher price, of coercing employers to accede to their demands. In detecting the lawfulness of a proceeding of this kind, the judges justly take the law as sustaining the employees; inconvenience to the general public cannot be considered.

"If employees have the lawful right to combine in a strike for the purpose of forcing compliance with their demands or securing the highest wages and best terms possible, that right cannot be remedied by the fact that its exercise is levied on the interests of others. Its principle applies, of course, only to those strikes which exist in the withdrawal from service by concerted combinations. Should violence be done to the person or property of the employer by those who have combined against him—if others would supply the service, which the strikers have abandoned, and are prevented from doing so by violence, intimidation, threats or other unlawful means—these acts are not only unlawful, but in most instances would constitute violations of the criminal laws and be punishable as such.

instances would constitute violations of the criminal laws and be punishable as such.

The conclusion of the Judge that the employees of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company might be forced by him by writs of injunction to protect that company from loss and the public from inconvenience by remaining in its service at a rate of wages to which they had not given assent, is one the report says "in which we cannot concur and which, in our judgment, is supported by none of the decisions which he cites. Your committee finds nothing in the testimony nor see any corrupt intention on the part of the Judge to render these orders. It is altogether possible he is sincere in his conviction that he properly exercised the equity and jurisdiction of the court for the prevention of loss and damages which would have resulted from a lawful strike against the Northern Pacific Railroad Company. This view of the case prevents us from recommending any proceedings looking to impeachment, but, in order there may be no further excuses for the renaition of such orders or decrees, and that the courts of equity of the United States may not be deceived as to the extent of their powers of enforcing the contracts for personal services by legal process, we recommend the enactment of a statute which will prevent them from doing so.

"We also feel constrained to call at-process, we recommend the enactment of a statute which will prevent them from doing so.

"We also feel constrained to call attention" to the abuses which have grown up under the powers assumed by the judges of the United States to appoint receivers for railroad corporations. These orders being rendered in court under proceedings instituted nominally for the purpose of effecting foreclosures, but really for the purpose of averting the pursuit of creditors and the enforcement of lawful obligations, are considered as interlocutory and not subject to appeal. If, however, appeal is granted, it does not have the effect of suspending the execution of the decree, and the road passes into the hands of a receiver, who operates it at least pending the appeal, and this action of the judge is entirely independent of any control whatever by the owner and creditors of the property. The powers exercised by the courts through receivers are purely their own creation; the result of judical construction, not ascertained or limited by statute, and therefore dangerous. cial construction, not ascertained or limited by statute, and therefore dangerous.

"Your committee is of the opinion that cases for which receiverships may be ordered in the courts of the United States should be declared by the statites. An anomaly has been pres for years, great railway corporations being operated and business of com-mon carriers being carried on by the United States through the judicial lines United States through the judges pos-sersing at once powers pertaining to other judicial officers, and, combining with this the power of the president and directors of the corporation united other judicial officers, and, combining with this the power of the president and directors of the corporation united in the one and same persons. The committee is also of the opinion that the power asserted by the judges of the United States courts to punish for contempt is dangerous and should be limited by law."

"In the case reported in the Federal reports, in re Rigins, Judge Pardee declared that his power to punish for contempt was unlimited, both as to the amount of the fine and duration of imprisonment. In his judgment he could decide without appeal what constituted a contempt, who committed the act and the extent of punishment to be inflicted. In that case he held a number of violations of the criminal laws of the State of Texas likewise to be contempt of his court.

"Under his construction an assault and battery or any other violence or unfairness committed by an employee or servant of a railroad company in the hands of a receiver would be considered a contempt of his court. If this principle is a correct one and the decisions seem to be cited by other courts and approved, it would be extremely convenient to substitute it for the criminal laws of the States. Exercise of police powers and the protection of life and property by those agencies would be relieved by the authority of a United States judge, who instituted proceedings for contempt. Limitations contained in the Constitution, viz: Providing for trials by jury, being confronted by witnesses, being represented by counsel, etc., etc., would likewise be relieved.

"Without taking issue with the judges as to whether they have correctly or incorrectly stated the law on this important subject, your committee is of the opinion that the protection of property rights should be left in the hands of executive officers and that violations of laws should be punished by proceedings defined and provided by law, and that, in order to prevent the abuse of authority claimed by the judiciary, their power to punish for contempt should be confined and limited by law.

Wreckers Say Nothing Can Be Saved.

The Hull of the Steamer is in Five Pieces.

Tremendous Seas Prevent Her from Being Reached.

udge Scott on Harrison's Candidacy-Th Bering Sea Fleet-Cheap Coal from Tonquin-The Pacific Insurance Union

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4 .- The tug Fearless returned from the wreck of the steamer Los Angeles this morning. Capt. Haskell is of the opinion that nothing will be saved, as the hull is in five pieces and it is almost impos-sible to reach the remains on account of tremendous seas that constantly break over the reef. The Fearless was deluged time and again and the salt water has washed all the varnish off the deckhouse.

"When the Los Angeles began to break up," said Capt. Haskell, "nearl; all the new upper works came away from the old in one piece. The re mainder took some of the steamer's ribs with it and both were washed high and dry on the beach. A part of the hull drifted away, but was caught on hull drifted away, but was caught on the reef further down and another plece drifted ashore near the lighthouse. The fifth plece is anchored, and I think the machinery and bollers form the anchor. No wool came ashore, but the jagged rocks of the reef are covered with it. The body of the missing Chinese was washed ashore, but there was ro $400 on his person. He evidently did not have even the satisfaction of securing his treasure before he was drowned."

While lying near the wreck the Fearless lost two anchors and another broke in two.

A SHIP OVERDUE.

The Senegal, Which Left San Diego on March 15. Not Since Spoken. Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—The British ship Senegal, bound from San Diego for Tacoma, is long overdue and grave fears are entertained for her safety. She left San Diego on March 15 and has not been heard of since. Today inquiries were received here from the London underwriters, ask-ing for a rate of reinsurance. None of the brokers would touch the vessel for less than 25 per cent, and if the ship remains out another week the rate will be raised. The ship left San Diego in ballast to go to the Sound for lumber. She carried 560 short tons of ballast, which ought to have been enough to steady her, but as there have been some very severe storms on the coast since she left she may have "turned turtle."

The fact that she has not been sighted the looked were a significant. rne fact that she has not been sighted is looked upon as significant, for her route lay in the line of the coasting vessels and ships coming and going to Puget Sound.

route lay in the line of the coasting vessels and ships coming and going to Puget Sound.

There are several steamship lines running south as far as San Diego and way ports, but the missing ship has not been sighted by any of those steamers. There are lines running along the coast to Mendocino, Humboldt, Oregon and the Sound, and it is thought that some of the steamers must have seen her if she were above water. Beside these steamers there have been any number of ships arriving at the Sound from San Francisco and none of those have seen a sign of the ship. The vessel, though, may have gone far out to sea; some of the sailing routes to the Sound lying as far out as 140 deg. of longitude. Under any circumstances fifty days is a long trip, and there was no necessity of taking a long route at this time of the year.

While the Republican Senators have allowed the Democrats to infer that when the amendments are publicly announced, and the assurance of a vote sufficient to pass the bill is given, they will yield to the majority, they assert privately that they know the necessary votes cannot be obtained, and declare that the Democrats in the Senate are gradually approaching more serious trouble than they have yet encountered; and in making this statement they assert that Senators Murphy and Smith are as adoubtful as is Senator Hill in the sup-making this statement they assert that Senators Murphy and Smith are as doubtful as is Senator Hill in the support of the bill, as it is amended.

The Democrats express the greatest confidence in the success of the bill. Senator Faulkner said today that the bill, would become a law before the 15th of June, and that Congress would adjourn by the 4th of July.

Senator Jones has put in the entire day in his committee-room, and has had Senator Veet with him a part of the time. They have been engaged principally on the wool and cotton schedules, which it is believed are to be still further changed than they have been.

Senator Mills interested himself in the schedules, and there is little doubt he will secure more liberal concessions than have been granted.
Senator Vest today offered amendments to the income tax feature of the tariff bill, the object of which is to relieve individual investors in corporations and have the profits of the corporations taxed. Instead of compelling the individual exhibit of books and papers the assessor may estimate the papers the assessor may estimate the amount of income and a person so as-sessed may appear and prove he has been assessed too high if such is the amount of income and a person so assessed may appear and prove he has been assessed too high if such is the case.

The changes in detail are: Sections 19, 60 and 61 are stricken out, and the following sections are substituted therefor: "That there shall be levied and collected a tax of 2 per cent. per annum on the profits or income of ordinary working or operating expenses of all banks, banking institutions, fire, marine, life and other insurance companies; railroads, canal; turnpike, canal navigation, stack water, telephone, telegraph, electric light, gas, water, street railway companies, and all other corporations, companies or associations doing business for profit in the United States, no matter how created and organized; that said tax shall be paid on or before the 1st of July in and to the paid of the preddent or other other other of the internal revenue district in which said corporation, company or association shall he feel to refuse to file with the collector of the internal revenue district in which said corporation, company or association shall be located or engaged in business, a statement verified by his oath or affirmation, showing the amount, net profits or income received by said corporation, company or association during the whole calendar year preceding the date of filing said statement, as hereinbefore secured, the corporation, company or association making default shall forfeit as a penalty the sum of $1000 and 10 per cent. of the amount of taxes due for each month unitif the same is paid, the payment of said penalty to be enforced as provided in other cases of neglect and refusal to pay penalties and taxes."

It has been considered probable that in the course of this, seasion of the House there may be an attempt made to attach on one of the appropriations an amendment providing for the repeal of the sugar bounty clause of the McKinley. act. There has been hesitation about passing the tariff bill in the Senate.

Today, however, Mr. Dockerey introduced the following resolution, which was refe

lative, Executive and states that be reported at this session, an amendment as follows:

"That so much of the act entitled:
"An act to reduce revenue, equalize duty and for other purposes," approved October 1, 1890, as provides for and authorizes the issue of licenses to producers of sugar from beets, sorghum or cane in the United States, is and the same is hereby repealed to take effect on July 1, 1894, and thereafter it shall be unlawful to issue any license to produce sugar or to pay any bounty for the production of sugar of any kind under the said act."

"The profits or income of all corporations, companies or associations shall include the amounts paid to shareholders and bondholders, or holders of certificates of indebtedness of any kind, on account of any funds used for construction, enlargement of plant or any other expenditures or investment represented, and the net annual profits made or acquired by said corporation, company or association. "That nothing herein contained shall apply to States, counties or municipalities, mor to corponations, companies or associations, organized and conducted solely for charity, religion or educational purposes, nor to the stocks, shares, funds or securities held by any judiciary or trustees for charitable, religious or educational purposes, nor to such building or loan associations as are organized under the laws of any State or Tenritory or of the District of Coumbia, which make loans to their shareholders to snable them to provide for themselves.

"The above is substituted for sec. 50, 60 and 61 of the tariff bill.

"The above is substituted for seca. 56, 60 and 61 of the tariff bill, in which sec. 59 is provided for levying 2 per cent. tax on banking and like corporations. Sec. 60 provided how the tax on such institutions should be levied and collected. Sec. 61 provided for the 2 per cent. tax on the interests on stocks, dividends or profits of radiusy, telephone, gas and 2ke corporations, and provided how it shall be collected." be collected."
Other amendments insert the word "wilfully," in providing a penalty for false statements, as, for instance, in sec. 56, where a penalty of 5 per cent, is added for false statements.

This is, of course, intended to prevent the infliction of penalties in case of unintentional false returns. It also deprives the revenue agent of the privilege of examining the books or accounts of persons accused of making false returns, and restricts the examination to the person himself. In many cases the amendments put corporations, companies and associations upon the same level as individuals, giving them the privilege of proving the amount of income, where the statement of ancome has been increased by the gayenue agent.

giving them the privilege of proving the amount of income, where the statement of ancome has been increased by the gevenue agent.

It also gives to corporations, companies and associations the rights granted to individuals to appeal from the deputy collector and from the collector's decision to that of the Commissioner of the Internal Revenue. This relieves them from the assessment of penalties, as it does individuals, except upon reasonable notice of the time and place of the hearing. The salaries of State, county and municipal officials are relieved from the operations of the proposed tax law.

The amendment providing for the time limit of the operation of the act as made in secs. 54 and 60 gives the leving of the tax shall begin on June 1, 1895 and end on January 1, 1900. An important amendment is made to sec. 55, which is as follows:

"Provided also that in compiling the income of any person, corporation, company or association here shall not be included the amount received from any company or association from the said or the bonds of stocks of such corporation, company or association as required by this act."

The clause in par. 59, requiring estimates to be made upon shares of persons in the gains or profits of companies in levying the income tax is stricken out. The intention of these amendments is to prevent double taxation upon incomes received from orporations.

Congressional salaries for the month Congressional salaries for the month of April became due today, so members had their first experience with the new procedure of docking for absentesism. Up to last night 213 members had filed their certificates, showing the number of days, if any, they had been absent. Today about fifty certificates were put in leaving about one hundred unaccounted for. The great majority of the members certify that they have not been absent at all, and the most of them that certify to absence limit the period to one or two days. Senate Committee on Naval Authorizes Twelve New Ques-lated Press Leased-wire Service. WASHINGTON, May 4.—Senator Mc-Pherson, charman of the Committee on Naval Affairs, today favorably reported from that committee the amendment to the Naval Appropriation Bill, authorizing the construction of twelve new torpedo-boats. The amandment provides that the cost of the boats shall not exceed $290,000, and that they shall be capable of making a speed of twenty-five knots per hour. A premium of $8000 is to be added for speed in excess of twenty-five knots and a penalty of that amount in case the speed of title boat falls below twenty-five knots. Senatorial Sentiment on the Silver Question.

White Metal.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Senators and Representatives who assisted in the repeal of the Sherman act express themselves in hearty sympathy with the bimetallic movement in England. Senator Hill said: "I joined in the dispatch to the bimetallists in England because I desired to encourage them in earnest efforts to promote the cause of the double standard. The best thinkers and best workers, the best statesmen and the best financiers, are gradually but surely realizing the fact that a single standard of gold means the impoverishment of the people everywhere, and some adequate relief from the present conditions is essential.

There are some indications that English sentiment is now drifting toward bimetallism. It is the duty of this government to pursue a course which will hasten the day when bimetallism will be an accomplished fact. If the present administration does not shape its ruling in that direction the people will select one that will. Bimetallism by international arrangement or independently if necessary, is to be the great issue of the future.

Senator Allison said: "The conference in London is significant as respects the membership and strong utterances, favoring the full use of silver as money. I have faith that the growing sentiment in favor of the full use of silver will find expression at the election in England, Scotland and Ireland when dissolution takes place."

Senator Voorhees said: "It indicates that the nations will not long consent to the continued disuse of silver and points to the restoration of free coinage. I expect the issue will be met, especially in the country, at a very early date and in a determined manner. I look for a general strong and popular movement on the subject, and that when it comes it will defy the opposition of the money centers and the power of money. I hope to live to take place during the present session of Congress.

Representative Bland authorized the following statement: "I never consid-

I think we are able to maintain our system of bimetallism. Efforts toward international agreement in the past have been used as a pretext for delay. I have no doubt, however, the present movement of European countries is in good faith and may lead to results, but that is too remote to warrant delay on our part for ourselves."

LONDON, May 4.—In the House of Commons tonight, Samuel Smith, Liberal member for Flinishire, moved a resolution that the government secure a stable par of the exchange of gold and silver by international agreement. The House, however, counted the motion out without discussion. IMPOSING LONDON, May 4.—The Status in an

The moted evangelist, Sam Jones, and his partner, George Stuart, are making a tour of the State in the interest of prohibition, and they are "raising the roof off of things." Their tour began at Bristol on Tuesday, and on Wednesday they were in Knoxville. Great crowds greeted them at each place. They held an open-air meeting at Baseball Park, in this city, with three services, and 15,000 people were present. It was the greatest political religious gathering ever held in Chattanoga. It is the purpose of this movement to secure the enactment by the next General Assembly of Tennessee of a law similar to the Mississ'ppl whisky law. Under that law when a saloon-keeper's license expires he cannot renew it unless a majority of the auton-keeper's lights a majority of the citizens of his distinct will sign a petition to the authorities of the course, and this petition must be published in the daily papers for three weeks.

The courtroom was filled with Populist members of Congress, constituting a notable part of the assemblage. A party of Industrials stole a hand car at Palm Springs on Friday and used it to reach Indio, the only unlawful act the army has committed. The Sheriff thinks the army will leave the country within a few days.

HERE IS.A. WONDERFUL EGG.

Discovered Floating Off Madagascar—Measures Nearly a Yard in Length.

A large specimen of the egg of the rabled roc of the "Arabian Nights," or aepyornis, as the extinct gigantic bird of Madagascar is called, has been secured by J. Proctor of Tamatave and Prince's Square, W., who has brought the curiosity to London.

It was discovered by some natives about twenty miles to the southward of St. Augustine's Bay, on the southwestern coast of Madagascar. It was floating on the calm sea, within twenty yards of the beach, and is supposed to have been washed away with the foreshore, which consists of sandhills, after a hurricane in the early part of the year.

The childlike longshoremen of the antipodes, opining that the egg had a value, showed the unusual piece of flotsam about with a view to sale, and it thus came into the hands of Mr. Proctor. The egg, which is waitey-brown in color and unbroken, is a fine specimen, 33½ inches by 28 inches, and an even higher value is placed upon it than upon the egg of the great auk, which lived within the memory of man. The Brobdignagian proportions of the egg are better demonstrated by comparisons with the eggs of the ostrich and crocodile. An ostrich's egg is about 17 inches by 15 inches, and the contents of six such are only equal to one egg of the aepyornis. The measurements of the egg of the crocodile are normally 9 inches by 6½ inches. It would require the contents of sixteen and one-half emu's eggs to equal the contents of this great egg, or 148 eggs of the homely fowl, or 30,000 of the humming bird. The last egg of the kind disposed of in London sold for floo, though cracked.

SCIENCE-INDUSTRY.

[From a Special `ontributor.]
It is difficult for ordinary mortals to say what the twentieth century may have in store for us. Mr. Tesla tells us that we shall be able to light our houses by disconnected globes of glass, which we can make luminous or non-luminous at will, by placing them within or without the influence of electrostatic currents emparative from trostatic currents emanating from the walls of the apartment; Mr. Edison says we shall be able to see long distances by electricity; Prof. Houston that our thoughts will be self-registering; Prof. Silvanus Thompson that we shall soon be speaking by telephone shall soon be speaking by telephone with England; and Mr. Preece that we shall some day do the like with the planet Mars. Now comes M. Berthelot, the French chemist, and one of the most eminent savants of the day, who assures us that agriculture and stock-raising is doomed, and that our dethe French chemist, and one of the most eminent savants of the day, who assures us that agriculture and stockraising is doomed, and that our descendants will feed on the dainties of the chemical laboratory, prepared from carbonic acid, nitrogen and hydrogen gases. M. Berthelot foreshadows with a very liberal hand all kinds of resources of which we are ignorant, which will be placed at the service of humanity in the year 2000. There will be no use for coal mines, as the problem of combustibles will be solved by the assistance of chemistry and physics. There will be no miners' strikes, no custom duties, no protectionism, no wars, and no frontiers watered by human blood. Aerial navigation, with its motive power supplied by 'chemical energy, will relegate all such obsolete institutions to the past. 'We shall then be very near realizing the dreams of socialism—provided we succeed in discovering a spiritual chemistry transforms his material nature.' M. Berthelot's plan for utilizing the internal heat of the earth is ingenious. He says that to obtain the central heat it would suffice to dig wells three thousand or four thousand meters deep, which the engineers of the future should have no great difficulty in doing. At the bottom of these wells the water would reach a very high temperature, and would consequently develop pressure capable of keeping in motion all the machinery in the world. There will be no more harvest fields, no more vineyards, and no more heread or meat, or drink wine, but confine, himself to his chemical lozenge. Man will gain in mildness and morality, because he will cease to live by carnage, and the destruction of living creatures. The earth will be transformed ento a vast garden, watered by the effusion of subterranean springs, and the human race will live on it in abundance, as in the legendary age. To the charge of being visionary, M. Berthelot replies that railways, steamboats, photography, telegraphy, and telephony are no more wonderful than what he predicts, and they were treated as chimeric alarm. INSTRUMENT TO RECORD COLORS. An ingenious instrument has been brought into notice, called the "tintometer," by which a permanent record of any colored substance may be secured by means of standard glasses of various degrees of color. By its use the color of a solution of unknown strength can be estiwork. By its use the color of a solu-tion of unknown strength can be esti-mated, and the strength can at once be determined by means of tables pro-vided for the purpose. This method can also be employed for estimating the amount of lead in a solution, which,

JOINTING SOIL PIPES,

Sanitary engineers have long had a difficulty in making an effective joint between the leaden soil pipe and the stoneware of interior domestic pipes. Red lead has been generally used to render the joint gastight, but the junction could never really be depended upon as a soldered joint could be. A London firm has at last succeeded in soldering lead piping to stoneware by what they call a "metallo-keramic" joint. After the stoneware is baked, it is metallized by painting on it a belt with a composition containing platinum. The metallic band is 'ncorporated with the body of the pottery by refiring, and thus forms a basis to which solder win firmly adhere. To show the strength of adhesiveness made possible by this device, if the band of lead soldered to the pottery be stripped off by main device, if the band of lead soldered to the pottery be stripped off by main force, the surface of the stoneware comes off with it. A convincing test of the staunchness of the joint has been given by soldering metal discs to the end of the stoneware pipes, and applying hydraulic pressure; the pipe burst before the ends could be forced off.

SEWER AIR POISONING. Recent investigations of the air of the London sewers have revealed the fact London sewers have revealed the fact that there is a poisonous emanation from sewers which may be as injurious to licalth as the bacteria to which it has been customary to describe all ill effects. The most noticeable productions of sewer-gas poisoning are nephritis and albuminuria. Cold and chill are usually held responsible for these affections, but it would appear that they be caused entirely by sewer air. It is suspected that the sewer gas contains a volatile poison, the examination and classification of which must be lett to future investigators. It is more than likely that the question of sewer poisoning and drains will become the problem of the chemist, instead of, as latterly, the bacteriologist. In all probability, the unknown substance is an organic nitrogen compound allied to hydrazine, which is known to have a powerful toxic action, so that it should not be difficult to devise experiments towards clearing up the point. that there is a poisonous emanation THE CURE OF THE DRINK CRAVING.

It is now universally acknowledged by competent authorities that inebriety is a disease, physical as well as mental and moral, and to give the pledge of total abstinence to the inveterate drunkard without specific instructions what to do next, and expect him to keep it is to look for a stupendous effort which only the man of sound mental energy and bodily vigor can perform. An expert, writing on this subject, says that the first step, in the progress of true temperance reform must be the recognition of the fact that the irresistible craving for strong drink is the effect of causes which must be got rid of before the drunkard can be regarded as safe from temptation. The various patent remedies can in no sense be regarded as a cure, for the only cure, in the real sense of the word, is to get the whole man into better condition, his body purified and his will strengthened. Diet is of extreme importance, and if skilfully directed, will wean away the craving naturally and without danger to the individual. All salted and heavy food stuffs should be avoided. To cultivate a distaste for alcohol, oranges are more effective than almost anything else known. They should be taken, one at a time, before breakfast, at 11 a.m., at 1 p.m., at 3 p.m., at 6 p.m., and the last thing on retiring. Apples and lemon juice are also excellent.

The combined movements thus given to the paddle-mixer produce a thorough distribution to all parts of the contents. In order to empty the bowl, all the working parts are removed. THE PHONOGRAPH IN COURT.

It will be remembered that soon after the first electric underground road was laid in London, proceedings road was laid in London, proceedings were taken against the railway company, to recover damages for reputed injury to buildings near the line, by the necessary excavation. The most important evidence brought into court was afforded by a series of photographs. The engineer of the road, who was wise in his generation, had sent a photographer to make pictures of all the buildings along the line of the road before excavations were begun. He consequently had a reliable record of their original condition. When the road was completed, the photographer was again sent on the same errand, and, when the two pictures, "before" and "after," were compared in court, the hardest of swearing as to supposed damage went for nothing. Science has again been invoked as a witness in a case in a London court, in the shape of the phonograph. The plaintiff sought to obtain an injunction against the defendants, on the ground of a nuisance, caused by vibration. It was claimed that the ruisance was so material that the vibration made it in tolerable to the occupants of the adjacent houses. Sometimes the top and sometimes the bottom of the house was affected. In some instances families were shaken in their beds and prevented from sleeping, clocks were stopped, and noises were gaused in the houses from the sympathetic vibration of different objects. A phonograph was brought into court and placed before the judge, and the noise of the vibration and jarring caused by the working of the defendant's machinery was reproduced. The phonograph had been set in various rooms in the houses affected, and the phonograph had been set in various rooms in the houses affected, and the phonograph of vilinder indicated to the judge, who listened to it more than a whole army of witnesses. were taken against the railway com

RAINING NICKELS ALL DAY. he Extent to Which Cambling With the Slot Machine Goes or (New York Sun:) The example set by New York in rooting out such nickel-in-the-slot boxes as are used as nickel-in-the-slot boxes as are used as gambling devices is being followed in several suburban towns. The vicious implements have been scattered all over the country, and there is now no State or Territory, and scarcely a village, in which they have not been set up and liberally patronized. A reporter of the Sun, who has seen them in scores of cities and villages, ran across one in a town in Michigan, where he saw to what extreme the use of the gambling-machine could be carried. The slot box in this case was on the cigar-counter in the principal hotel. It revealed three metal runaways for nickels, and whenever a coln ran down vealed three metal runaways for nickels, and whenever a coin ran down the one on the left hand all the money in the box rolled out upon the counter. The machine was never idle between 8 o'clock in the morning and 1 or 2 o'clock the next morning. Visitors to the hotel were obliged to wait at the desk while the clerk stood at the cigar-counter working the machine. The proprietor was literally the only man in the hotel who was never seen to indulge in this weakness. As for the locked, and it was found that the bartender was trying his luck with the siot.

The head waitress in the dining-room slipped into the office when dinar was over and had the good fortune to win $1.15 for a nickel. She went back to her quarters and quickly reappeared with six 5-cent pieces, which she said formed a pool gotten up by all the waiter-girls, who had asked her to play it for them.

In the afternoon the school boys, some of whom were too small to reach the slot, slipped into the office in couples and trios, and tried their fortunes. There were at times as many as a dozen boys, school-books in hand, sending the coins rattling down the metal alleys. They made no bones of what they were doing; on the contrary they were noisy and hilarious, and disturbed every one else in the place. When the commercial crummers and others who sat around the stove, resting after many bouts with the machine, had seen the last of the school boys they cose to their feet, moved over to the counter with one accord, and asked the cigar man to change their larger coins, and again tested Dame Fortune's humor with 5-cent pleces. So the play went on all day and far into the night, just as it was going on at Monte Carlo on a larger scale. At about 10 clock in the morning the reporter of the Sun finished the book he had been reading in his bedroom, and rang for ice water. Again and again he rang, but without result. So he went down one flight to the offee. There the night boys and bling machine. They had taken it over to the clerk's desk and had it between them, each having drawn up a high stool to sit on at ease during the combat with luck. them, each having drawn up a high stool to sit on at ease during the combat with luck.

"Hello," said the watchman to the reporter. "I'll bring your ice water in a minute. Tried your luck at this old thing today?"

"No."
"Better hit it now. We've got about a dollar in there, an' if you hit the right alley you'll get it, sure."
The reporter found a 5-cent piece in his pocket and decided to gamble just his pocket and decided to gamble just once.

"You see," said the watchman, "there's three alleys for the nickel to run down. This one on the right is for the house, this middle one is for the company that owns the boxes, and this on the left is what goes to the pot and gives you the money if you hit it right."

As is so often the case with an unsophisticated player the reporter won the "pot," which contained 35 cents instead of a dollar. Then he filled a pitcher with ice water and carried it up to his room out of consideration for the night boy, who was gambling with such fervor that one would have thought the box was a punching-bag and he a puglist in training. Whenever he dropped a coin in the slot he whacked the box to make the nickel go right. Of course it did not go right so he whacked it again to make it deliver up its treasure without wanting to. This it did not do, either.

A Story of Rosa Bonheur.

(Boston Herald:) A pretty story is being circulated about Rosa Bonheurs Some time ago a Russian grand luke was visiting Paris, and chanced to dine in her company. At dessert they ate philopena, a double almond. But the Duke, when they met next day, forgot to say "philopena," and lost the bet. He asked the artist what cresent he should give her, and she answered laughingly, "Any animal that would do to paint; something pretty, you know." The Duke smiled and departed. Nothing more was heard of him, and the lady had quite forgotten the affair, when, some months afterward, the royal forfeit arrived, towit, three enormous polar bears. THE ROOT OF POLITICAL EVIL.

After all there is a bright side to the dark cloud which at present overhangs the country. The remarkable and un-precedented depression in business affairs which now prevails throughout United States has led men to think seriously upon political and social ics who had never before given them ught on part of the mass of the people cannot fail to be advantageous. oner or later, although for the time it may give rise to many visionary and impracticable schemes.

One of the questions which Americans have been asking theselves during these days is why there should be such a wide gap between the desires of the people and the fulfillment of those desires—or rather the lack of their fulfillment—by the men whom the citizens have chosen to make the laws—the Federal, and State, and county and municipal laws. There are certain things which the wellaning citizens of all political parties At each election these well-meaning citizens fondly hope that they are going to attain their desires. If the pre-election speeches of candidates amount to anything citizens would certainly be justified in this hope. After election, however, they invariably find that they have been duped and deceived. The platform which looked so substantial inder the glare of the torchlights is broken and the fair promises made by suave aspirants for office are gone where the "woodbine twineth." It al-ways has been this way; it always will be this way as long as the present system of choosing men for office prevails.

What is to be done? The first thing is to have the peo ple-the voters-realize the necessity for a radical change. Fortunately we have reached this point. The people wearied of the rule of city county, ward and precinct bosses and are anxious to try their hand at running the country themselves-of reduc ing to practice the theory of a government of, for and by the people They have the will, but they do not see the way clearly.

When the matter is simmered down, sought by the friends of ballot reform it is found that the tap-root of the whole evil of corrupt politics in this country rests in the primary elections. The primaries are like the committees of a legislative body. Schemes and the surest guarantee of a right and honest result. We commend the spirit of the plans offered, however defective jobs are hatched there, then presented to the main body for its indorsement, and generally worked through in de line of action to effect a change in fiance of the consent and the our present system of primary voting, which change all right-thinking citieven an honest majority. In the primaries and the conventions the corrupt jobs and the thieving trades succeed ecause the same gangs who "work" this country. We have no single hobby conventions also. These worthies pull point we insist upon is that reform in together, on the principle of "you scratch me and I'll scratch you." As the same sort of business goes on in this direction is absolutely necessary, and we believe that the above-men tioned plan, (briefly and imperfectly stated here) or some similar plan, the primaries of each party, all that and defrauded voter to do is to choose would more surely effect the needed between two evils-or take to the

The Republican Central Committée of Los An publican Central Committee of the Act of the Green's geles county has issued a circular, through Charles Silent, chairman, in which that transparent manipulator declares once more the commit-tee's intention of doing everything in its power to evoke the real sentiment of the voters at the ning primaries. Mr. Silent's circular is formal and solemn document, sent from his committee-rooms to the press for publication and was published yesterday's Times as it came, together with its sugar-coated "guff" at the end, promising pure primaries when there are no pure primaries, and no hope of any under the old and rotten

We have no confidence in the plaus thle promises of reform coming from that quarter, They induce fatigue in the average citizen and taxpayer. Where and how is reform possible existing infamous order of things? What can we expect without a radical reform in primary-election methods? The experience of the past gives no encouragement to our hopes. The people have grown accustomed to fair promises before election from those run the political machinery, and it is not surprising that they attach little or no importance to them, or that they habitually absent themselves from the primary elections and suffer them to go by default. A more radical change is needed to meet the situation What is the matter with abolishing the primaries altogether, or else reforming them beyond recognition? nother Meeting of the Councilmanic Com mittee-Suggestions Presented.

At the meeting last evening of the Committee on Revision of the City Charter, Thomas Kelley, representing the Northwest Improvement Associa tion, presented a number of suggestions for the new charter. Among these were the following recommendations: That the office of Mayor be made honorary, and that he receive no salary; that the salaries of Councilmen be $1000 each per annum; that the annual compensation of the City Clerk be $1800, and that he be required to perform the duties of City Assessor; that the City Treasurer be also the City Tax and License Collector, and that he receive $1800 per year; that the office of City Sealer of Weights and Measures be given more importance; that tion, presented a number of sugges ures be given more importance; that the City Engineer receive $2400 per year; that the City Attorney be apyear; that the City Attorney be appointed by the Judges of the Superior Court, sitting in bank, and that his compensation be $2500 per annum; that the Street Superintendent receive $900 per annum; that the Superintendent of Buildings be appointed by the Mayor, and receive $1200 per year; that the Zanjero be appointed by the Mayor, and receive $800 per year; that the Chief of Police receive an annual salary of $1800, the Chief of the Fire Department $1200, and the Health Officer $1500.

The office of member of the Board of Education should be made honorary. The association views with apprehension the present condition of things, by which the election to membership of the board is too much involved in ward politics. It is suggested that the members of the board be appointed by the Mayor or elected by the City Council.

Taking up the reading of the present charter the same was continued without special change to the point where the duties of the City Attorney are specified. This was amended so as to provide the City Attorney shall devote his entire time to the duties of his office, and it shall be unlawful for him to accept any fee or anything of nim to accept any fee or anything of value for services performed outside his official duties, a violation of such provision to involve the forfeiture of his office.

> Do Our Votes Count?"-How the Publi Will is Stifled by the Machine-A Plan to Vote Direct for the Nomi-

The Times presents below further ex-tracts from the timely political bro-chure by John Murray, Jr., of Ventura

It will be well for us to consider now what a vote really is.

A vote is the legalized mode of public expression. The wish of the majority, thus expressed, is law. In order to find out what constitutes the majority, every citizen must vote. Therefore the failure to ascertain the wishes of any one citizen, through his inability or lack of desire to vote, is just so much a failure of the whole government.

No one will deny that at present the majority is not represented at the pri-

No one will deny that at present the majority is not represented at the primaries. But, it will be said by many that the fault, after all, lies with the public, inasmuch as it falls to asserited by voting at this most important step.

Let us see how the primaries are managed in the cities. I quote from "The American Commonwealth"—Brice: "Every voter belonging to the party in the local area for which the primary is held is presumably entitled to appear and vote in it. In the rural districts, where everybody knows everybody else, there is no difficulty about admission, for if a Democrat came into a Republican primary, or a Republican from North Adams tried to vote in the Republican primary or Lafayette, he would be recognized as an intruder and expelled. But in cities where people do not know their neighbors by headmark, it becomes necessary to have a regular list of the party voters entitled to a voice in the primary. These are made up by the local committee, which may exclude persons whom, though shey call themselves Republican (or Democrat, as the case may be) it deems not loyal members of the party. The usual test is: Did the claimant vote the party ticket at the last important election; or that for the State Governorship? If he did not, he may be excluded. Frequently, however, the local rules of the party require every one admitted by the votes of the members, who may reject him at their pleasure, and also exact from each member two pledges—to obey the local committee and to support the party nominations; the breach of either pledge being punishable by expulsion. In many primaries voters supposed to be disagreeably independent are kept out either by the votes of the existing members or by the application of these strict tests. Thus it happens that, three-fourths, or even four-fifths, of the party voters in a primary area may not be on the list and entitled to raise their votes in the primary area may not be on the list and entitled to raise their votes in the primary for the selection of candidates of the existing members of publican managers of a county or district, to insure the normalition or certain candidates."

"Fourth—That such election will be held under the provisions of the primary law."

"Fifth—The time and manner of the publication of notice of such election. "Sixth—The qualifications required for voters in addition to those prescribed by law."

A committee having the power to prescribe any test that it may see fit, at an election held partly for the purpose of deciding who shall constitute that committee, can be self-perpetuating. A test acceping only the ballots of one-eyed voters would not exceed the powers of such a committee.

An official, high in the councils of the Republican party, writes to me: "Any exercise of the power of the County Central Committee, by making an unreasonable test, would certainly cause a revolt, and I apprehend that we may say they have the power so long as they make the test a reasonable one." This is a good, honest thought, but hardly practical in politics. We know that "the right must prevail." Unfortunately the law strictly construed will back the County Central Committe in any test it chooses to make; so that when the law and the politicians agree the balance of the community may as well subside. Theoretically, the Caar of Russia and Richard Croker hold their positions only upon good behavior, but, unfortunately, their power is much more apt to be used in smothering honest revolts than in making good laws.

I particularly wish to draw the attention of all those who belive in fair play to sec. 1361, Political Code:

"None but persons who possess the qualifications prescribed by law and by the resolutions must vote or participate in any of the proceedings at such election."

It is needless to say that all of these laws were approved of by the machine before they became participate our government, and here we can see the desire of our political masters, not only to nail our hides to the wall, but to clinch the nails on the other side. We may not vote (unless we are willing to accept the test) and, moreover, we must not interfere, challenge or protest, though rascality be practiced before our very eyes.

AS IT IS IN SWITZERIAND.

What is it that is continually tripping us up, misrepresenting us and threatening every reform effort? It is the political middleman. In Switzerland they have done away with this parasitical growth, and the onnsequences are that political parties as we understand the term—do not exist; offices are filled and laws made in greater part by direct vote and the officers are actually servants of the republic.

Direct legislation by the people has made this country what it is, and the principles of that direct legislation, as embodied in the intiative and referendum, have a larger share in the government of the United States than most of us suspect. The initiative gives every Swiss citizen the right to propose a measure of law to his feliow citizens. The referendum demands that the majority, by voting the acceptance, shall actually enact the law proposed! IN CALIFORNIA.

As every California citizen knows who voted at the last Presidential elec-tion, there were five constitutional amendments and four other propositions amendments and four other propositions referred to the people for decision: The amendment giving to cities of 3500 inhabitants the right to frame their own charters was, however, the most important of all. In it the principle of home rule is freely acknowledged, and direct legislation (at least as far as the referendum can give it) is upheld and encouraged. As our cities increase in number it can be seen how far-reaching this reform will be. THE GOVERNMENT TOO FAR FROM

THE PEOPLE.

(Communication in the New York (Communication in the New 1978, Post, May 9, 1893:) The great mass of government officials are, to most of us, but as so many names upon paper. Through the newspapers, whose truth-telling powers are small, and the campaign orator, whose integrity is for the most part doubtful, we gather what information we can about the great sum. formation we can about the great arm;

most part doubtful, we gather what information we can about the great army of salary-drawers. The power of the public to know from actual observation what their officials are doing is so small that it practically amounts to nothing. There are five ways of attacking the machine:

First—Forming a new party, the difficulties of which are clearly illustrated by the present standing of the Populists and Prohibitionists.

Second—Scratching the ticket; a plan followed by a large number of voters at the last Presidential election, but which can be considered a makeshift only.

at the last Presidential election, but which can be considered a makeshift only.

Third — "Avoiding all interference with nominations and elections, but subjecting those who are elected to the constant oversight and criticism of associations of volunteers formed for the purpose of watching officials and persuading them to do what they ought to do, and to refrain from those things for which they sought their positions. The means employed by such associations are arguments, protests, public exposure, and appeals to the court. Against this method it is urged that while it sometimes results in much good its limits are soon reached, and it is too much like allowing a burgjar to enter your house, tie your hands and take your keys, while you do nothing but beg him not to touch the money and jewelry which it is the business of his life to steal. Even if such an association could convert every corrupt or dishonest candidate as soon as he is elected or appointed, it would still require an additional miracle to give him the necessary intelligence and special training for enabling him to render the right kind of service to the city." — (Charles Richardson in Good Government, December 15, 1893.)

Fourth—Running independent candidates, susally done to right some focal evil, but never continued as a matter of principle.

Fifth—The forcing of one of the great principle.

Fifth—The forcing of one of the grea

Fifth—The forcing of one of the great standing parties—through fear of dissension in its ranks—to adopt the reform measure desired. This, of course, is very effective, but also very difficult, as the professionals will probably oppose it—they having little to gain by reform measures and everything to lose. Forcing party action is generally brought about in two ways: through petitions—the hopelessness of which we all know—and attacks upon the primaries—where the ordinary every-day citizen has no rights that party managers are bound to respect.

WHAT CAIN WE DO?

What first step can we take un-

What first step can we take un-hampered by spoilsmen? The profes-sional politician says, "You do not do your duty as honest citizens if you neglect the primaries—if you want a but swallow party nominations you can vote; if you are independently inclined you will be tested and found wanting.

The following extracts are from the Political Code:

"Political Code of California.—Primary Elections:

"Section 1357. Any committee or body authorized by the rules or customs of a voluntary political association or organization, for any purpose, may, by resolutions adopted at the time of making the call, elect to have such elections conducted in accordance with the rules prescribed in sections.

(Approved March 26; in effect first Monday of July, 1874.)

"Sec. 1358. The resolution must declare:

"First—The time and place of holds."

As a current writer has said, "The cure for Democracy is more Democracy." And believing this is to be true I wish to lay before you for consideration, a method by which the people can, through direct vote, nominate candidates—instead of delegating their rights to a convention.

tion, a method by which the people can, through direct vote, nominate candidates—instead of delegating their rights to a convention.

In every precinct a public meeting should be held for the purpose of suggesting the names of eligible men for the official positions to be filled.

Three judges of election should be chosen at this meeting, whose duties should be as follows:

First—To have the names of the candidates, suggested at the meeting, published in the local papers; also the date and place of the election.

Second—To have printed and malled to every voter in the precinct a ballot, upon the back of which each judge should sign his name.

Third—To receive, the ballots returned to them through the postoffice, and count the same, recording the first, second and third choice of the people for each official position.

Fourth—To forward a copy of the returns to a central committee, chosen for the purpose, whose duty it shall be to count and publish the final results.

The adoption of this method, in addition to our Australian ballot system, would give the people three opportunities of showing their desires. The first would be at the public meeting, where, no doubt, a large number of nominees would be brought forward. The second expression of public opinion, by balloting through the postoffice, would be more concentrated; and the third would take final shape in the election authorized by the government.

shape in the election authorized by the government.

I believe that in voting through the postoffice a larger vote would be cast than by any other method. Each ballot, indorsed upon its back by the judges of election, would be like a bank note, not easily counterfeited.

Discussion, through the newspapers, and at the first meeting, would bring before the public the most eligible men for official positions.

The first, second and third choice of each precinct being recorded would insure the will of the majority being carried out in the final count. Local papers would print the returns of each precinct, and trauds would be almost impossible.

precinct, and treated impossible.

We all want reform, of one kind or another. We all believe that certain laws made or unmade would bring happier times; but to find footing for our seforms representation must be free as air. You believe in woman suffrage! Then work for a means of fairly representing your opinions and those of your neighbors. You desire free coinage of silver! Can you make you belief count? The government should own the railroads! How can you add your mite to the many who are striving for it? A gold standard is the salvation of the country! Unless you have gold in your pockets your opinion on the subject is worthless. Why work for free trade when a free bailot at the primaries is denied you? Eet us unite then and find common ground to stand upon in the shape of direct legislation.

HOW TO GO TO WORK.

Although I believe that the principles involved in my method of direct nomination can be applied to the nomination of every official elected in the United States, yet I have at present more particularly in mind its application to county politics. The California elections to be held in November next are of unusual interest, as all county politics elected then will hold office for four years. Nominations obtained after the manner I have described would be entirely non-partisan in character, and the nominees would stand an excellent chance of election, for the reason that honesty, character and fitness would be the tests applied, and not partly fealty, money or influence. After these nominating elections had taken place, and the nominees decided upon, their names would be printed on the regular ticket under the following conditions:

"Section 1188, Pol. Code. A candidate for public office may be nominated otherwise than by a convention in the manner following: A certificate of nomination containing the name of the candidate to be nominated with the other information required to be given in the certificates provided for insec. 1187 of this code, shall be signed by electors residing within the district or political division for which candidates are to be presented, equal in number to at least 5 per cent. of the entire vote cast at the last preceding election in the State, district or political division for which candidates are to be presented, equal in number to at least a preceding election in the State, district or political division for which the other information which the nomination is to be made. Said signatures need not all be appended to one paper, but each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence, giving the street and number, when he resides in a city. One of the signers of each such certificate shall swear that me statements therein made are true to the best of his knowledge and belief, and a certificate of each oath shall be annexed. Such a certificate of nomination made by a party conven pend, instead, upon the hard commonsense of the community. To effect this change, however, we must have volunteer work freely given by all those who are not afraid to speak their minds, and to act upon their convictions. Assistance from the professional politician we need not look for. On the contrary, every obstacle will be placed in the way of this or any other reform that attempts to do away with the spoils system.

If you believe in this reform, do your share. If the leading men in your community take no action in the matter, find two or three neighbors who agree with you, and call a public meeting to discuss the question. Little faith can be placed in the so-called leading men; they are generally found on the winning side, the moneyed side, and on the soft side of everything. If poor men cannot successfully apply this method there is nothing in it. I believe that in these times of notitied. the soft side of everything. If poor men cannot successfully apply this method there is nothing in it. I believe that, in these times of political corruption one should act, although he may have little faith in his own ability. I will be glad to correspond with any one interested in this matter.

The Young People's Missionary Conference, which opened last evening at the First Methodist Church, promises terence, which opened last evening at the First Methodist Church, promises to be one of the most interesting meetings of the kind ever held in this city. It is interdenominational in character, and delegates from all the young peoples' church societies of Los Angeles are in attendance, beside many from the surrounding towns. The church is handsomely and appropriately decorated with flags of all nations, palms and flowers. Surmounting the platform the words, "All the World Our Field," in sliver letters, are displayed. A large audience was present.

A song service preceded the beginning of the conference, followed by a short explanatory talk by Rev. A. W. Rider, who called attention to the fact that the conference was in the interests of both home and foreign missions, its object looking toward the world's evangelization.

Miss Clara Y. Morse, secretary of the Y.W.C.A., was then introduced. She stated briefly the object of the conference.

Miss Morse was followed by Rev. G. W. White, who gave an address, entitled "The Christian's Marching Orders." He told of the great work accomplished by the missionaries, and said that at first the secular press had belittled their object, but now was forced to acknowledged the importance and success of the work. Continuing, he said that there were more young people in the church today ready to be sent out to foreign lands than missionaries already in the field.

Ex-Gov. L. A. Sheldon's Paper on "Transportation."

The Necessity for Cheaper and Better Methods.

apers by Prof. Newton B. Pierce, Judge Blades, D. Edson Smith and Others-Election of Officers-Final

The second day of the Pomological convention opened Friday morning, at the Universalist Church, Pasadena, with a scholarly address by ex-Gov. Lionel A. Sheldon of Pasadena, on the subject of "Transportation." After the subject of "Transportation." After referring to the greatly-increased and daily-increasing necessity for better and transportation, the speaker discussed the various methods now in vogue for the regulation of charges and asserted that no adequate measured that here would be applied to the control of the second transportation. ure of relief has been supplied, such as is due the people. He advocates the consolidation of all roads into one sysconsolidation of all roads into the sys-tem, where the basis of present cost of reproduction to be reached is bonded for that sum; that the dicome upon capitalization shall not exceed 3 per cent. Rates shall be so revised by the government as to produce only money produce to pay precessary operating enough to pay necessary operating expenses, an income of 3 per cent. and a sufficient amount to include imand a sufficient amount to include improvements and extensions.

Gov. Sheldon was followed by Judge Blades of Pomona, on the subject of "The Nicaragua Canal." His paper explained with clearness the influence of water ways of transportation upon commerce, and also upon freight charges of railroadis, etc. He supported his statements by valuable statistics, and his main object was to show the necessity of the Nicaragua Camal as a condition precedent to low rates of freight between this Coast and the great markets of the world. Judge Blades's paper has been referred to as the most masterly of the convention, dealing with a subject of great interest, especially to the people of the Pacific Slope.

Judge Blades's remarks were followed by a paper by D. Edson Smith on the same subject, which held the attention of the convention for the greater part of the remainder of the morning session. The speakers named, however, held widely different views on the subject.

AFTERNOON SESSION. The attendance at the afternoon ses sion was the largest during the con-vention. The order of business was changed, the election of officers for changed, the election of officers for the ensuing year taking precedence of the papers to be read, as several members were obliged to leave on early trains. Officers were elected for the year as follows: President, L. M. Holt, Los Angeles; vice-president, C. E. Tebbetts, Pasadena; secretary and treasurer, D. E. Smith, Santa Ana; pathologist, Prof. N. B. Pierce, Santa Ana; entomologist, Prof. A. J. Cook, Claremont; directors, N. W. Blanchard, Santa Paula; C. M. Heintz, Judge Bladce, Pomona; E. W. Holmes, Riverside; M. J. Cannock, George A. True, A. D. Bishop, E. M. Hatch, E. A. Bonine, J. W. McCracken, John Scott, Duarte.

Pomona was selected as the next place of meeting, the meeting to be held the first Thursday and Friday in need the first Thursday and Friday in November.

The afternoon meeting approached that of the proper in point of interest. The first aper, submitted by Prof. Newton B. Pierce, was "Recent Work on Plant Diseases." Prof. Pierce has devoted unremitting care in the investigation of diseases of plants and vegetable pathology, and proved himself well qualified to handle his subject, making it intelligible to his hearers. He is at present engaged in testing forty different sprays, which are commonly used in exterminating disease germs from plants and trees, and will soon issue a bulletin relative to this matter, which will be of great value to fruit-growers in this section. He will also give a formula for the preparation of this spraying solution. Prof. Pierce treated his subject from a scientific standpoint. In his opinion in plant life it is the survival of the fittest, as in other forms of life, but man insists not upon the survival man insists not upon the survival of the strongest so much as the survival of the strongest so much as the survival of the choicest. To accomplish this Prof. Pierce advocates grafting of choicest varieties upon hardy stock to avoid root diseases, the selection of root being as important as the selection of trees. Environment should especially be studied and considered. Prof. Pierce referred to several troublesome diseases of trees annoying to fruit-growers and gave valuable information regarding the disease known as "ourl leaf. He has found spraying most efficacious in this case, late Crawford peaches sprayed bearing sixty pounds, where on unsprayed trees only six pounds of fruit matured. Crossbreeding also helps to give trees and plants a renewed vigor, and crosspollenization is desirable. Prof. Pierce exhibited a rough but effective chart, showing how the fungus causing disease lives between the cuticle and epidermis cells of the leaf, works its way to the surface and fructifies. Cold and wet weather are favoring conditions for the working of the baccilibut do not cause the disease. To prevent grain rust is possible by spraying, but not practical. The remedy is to select most resisting varieties. In sects assist in carrying baccilli to plants and bloom as well as pollen, but experiments show that where insects are kept from plants they are healthy, but sterile.

At the conclusion of this paper Prof.

experiments show that where insects are kept from plants they are healthy, but sterile.

At the conclusion of this paper Prof. Pierce was called upon by member after member for information and statistics, and the interest of the afternoon session was held by the discussions which followed. Photographs were shown of fruit trees sprayed side by side with those not sprayed and the contrast was greatly in favor of the trees sprayed.

Prof. Plerce was followed by C. E. Tebbetts of Pasadena on "Fruit-drying and Grading." Mr. Tebbetts spoke only from notes in hand, but spoke eloquently and to the point. The question of importance is "how shall we realize the most on deciduous fruits." Mr. Tebbetts does not believe in "middlemen." He advocates strongly neighborhood association and co-operation everywhere. He emphasized the necessity of fruit grading, not only as to size, but also as to variety. Mr. Tebbetts proved by conclusive figures and arguments how the fruit industry has been grossly mismanaged in Southern California. He quoted convincing figures from a recent San Jose bulletin, proving how valuable co-operative work had been in that section. His remarks were well received and an animated discussion followed.

A very enjoyable and instructive paper had been prepared by I. C. Wood of Ontario, but Mr. Wood was not present to read it. The subject was "Pruning and Curing the Lemon." Secretary Smith read the paper, which was full of interest, after which an informal hour was spent in general discussion, and the meeting formally adjourned.

During the interval of arriving and departing the band played at the Arcade Depot some excellent selections, first on the platform and afterward in the car it occupied. A good-sized audience was present to enjoy the music, and cast curious glances at the musicians, who were in their traveling clothes, and did not look as handsome as when in full dress. The clothes did not seem to make much difference in the music, which, as is the gase with that of all the Mexican regimental bands, was good. After playing the United States national hymn, the band gave "La Golondrina," which is to Mexico the same as "Home, Sweet Home," to Americans. As the train pulled out for San Francisco a number of Pullman palace-car passengers were congregated in the tourist-car occupied by the Mexicans, exchanging congratulations in bad Spanish for the musical treat which had been given gratuitously.

The Rock Island Railroad has inaugurated a new departure in the shape of a rainmaking bureau. Ten rainmaking outfits will be purchased and set to work in Southwestern Kansas and Oklahoma during the coming summer. It is to be hoped, remarks the Pueblo Chieftain, that competent men will be placed in charge of the machinery, so that it will not escape from control and flood the whole country.

NEW YORK, May 4.—The fact that only $5,000,000 of gold has been engaged for shipment to Europe by tomorrow's steamer, $500,000 of which goes from Boston, was regarded as a favorable indication by the speculative fraternity, and the evidences of the approaching settlement of the tariff question by the national Legislature was accepted as another bull point. These forces far outwelghed the depression which was cartional Legislature was accepted as another bull point. These forces far outweighed the depression which was carried over from yesterday as a result of the difficulties which beset the reorganization proceedings now in progress in the several insolvent; railway, corporations. The local traders were mostly buyers. London was small purchaser of the arbitrage specialties. It was therefore with a good tone that the speculation opened? Nat. Lead was in particular request, and opened 1½, The movement, was due to openations of the pool recently formed in the stock. Sugar opened ½ higher, and also took a dip of 1½. The general market had advanced only a fraction when the decline in sugar and lead caused a partial reaction, and during the first hour the trading was irregular, the market becoming steady toward 11 o'clock. During the mext hour the buyers were more numerous than the sellers, and prices moved upward under the leadership of lead and the other industrials, the railway list not being prominent in the improvement. After the midday New England, which had been neglected during the morning, broke 1 per cent. on free offerings on stock, said to be for the Boston account. The rest of the market was but slightly affected by this demonstration, and before 1 o'clock a strong buying movement was developed in sugar, which led to a general advance, the speculation continuing firm, but in light volume, until a little before 2 o'clock, when a drive was made in sugar, sending the block down and carrying the other industrials with it. The railway list reacted but very slightly.

GENERAL EASTERN MARKETS.

Grain and Produce. Associated Press Leased-wire Service.
CHICAGO, May 4.—The price of oats made a sensational advance today. The corner in May, which has recently been dormant, woke up and surprised the shorts. The prices, which for some time has been hovering around 32c, took a jump to 37%. Yesterday's price at the close was 34, and the advance of 17% per bushel in one day in an article which does not usually move more than 11-16 of a cent in twenty-four hours, was was rather a remarkable occurrence. The chief engineer of the deal is. E. Hesse, who is seconded by Noble Jones. These two parties are supposed to own all the cash oats in store, and the great bulk of the contract of the shorts for May delivery, and the manipulators were not pushing matters; the shorts in their anxiety to get out of the hole were themselves responsible for today's advance. The condition of May delivery of oats is not confined to Chicago alone. May oats is a scarce article at Milwaukee and St. Louis, and something like a corner in May prevails in those markets also. While May oats were selling at 38%, they could be bought for July delivery at 30%, The position of shorts in May is to be judged from the fact that thege are only 691,000 bushels of contract oats in store, and there are supposed to be about 3,000,000 sold short. The manipulators raised the screws a little at the close and let the price drop back to 36%. The fine was no bar today to a fairly active demand for wheat, for it had a bulge of 3½ in the first forty-five minutes of the session, and after a slight reaction it had an additional bump of 3½c. The trading was not a fairly active demand for the advance. The opening prices for July were 593 bid, with only a sale or two at that, and much more generally at 59½, 11 worked gradually up until it struck 60½, 1 here was a reaction to 595, following by a speedy bulge to 60½, from which latter point there was another reaction of 1½, closing 4 higher than on Thursday. The provision market was string active during the first half hour, when it relapsed into a quiet state. The market was fairly active during the price wor

An Interesting Session of the Board of Pub-lic Works. Ex-Mayor Hazard and W. J. Brodrick

Ex-Mayor Hazard and W. J. Brodrick appeared before the Board of Public Works at yesterday's meeting and were heard in reference to certain petitions for franchises for street railways.

Mr. Brodrick spoke in behalf of a petition presented to the Council last December, and referred to the Board of Public Works, with which body it had since remained. The petition was from the Main street and Agricultural Park Railway Company and asked for a Railway Company and asked for a franchise over a route commencing at the Santa Fe depot and taking a generally southwesterly direction over Santa Fe avenue and Third, Hill, Eighth, Hope, Eleventh, Georgia Bell, Sixteenth, Bush, Hoover and Freeman Streets.

The petition in behalf of which exMayor Hazard appeared, was the same as was presented to the Council at last Monday's meeting and referred to the Board of Public Works. This petition was from H. F. Storrs and asked for a franchise over a route much the same as that petitioned for by the Main takes in Santa Fe avenue and Second, Street Rallway Company. The route takes in Santa Fe avenue and Second, Hewitt, Third, Hill, Fifteenth, Hope, Sixteenth, Figueroa and Sixteenth Streets

Mr. Brodrick argued that the petition which he represented had been before the board for several months and should be acted on before the petition which had only just been presented. Ex-Mayor Hazard urged that the petition for which he appeared be given an equal chance with the other. Councilmen Rhodes and Innes expressed themselves as in favor of investigating the Storrs petition before acting on it, and Mr. Hazard suggested they drive over the ground during the afternoon.

Mr. Rhodes said there were some important matters to which they wished provided during the afternoon.

Brodrick or Mr. Brodrick's company would receive no support for the franchise asked for by the company. The action taken by the company in refusing to pave its portion of Fifth street had made the Seventh Ward people feel very unfriendly toward the management of that line.

Mr. Brodrick argued that this did not concern the franchise asked for. It was finally decided to recommend that the City Attorney be instructed to present a draft of an ordinance granting the franchise asked for by the Main-street company. Mr. Strohm, however, did not concur, and will present a minority report on that matter, Action on the petition of certain property-owners, asking that the "Blug Line" street-car service be either improved or abandoned, was deferred for another week.

is made when the coarser work is in place, ready to have the finer work connected to it.

Each piece of lead pipe that is to have attached to it a closet or washbowl has its end pinched together and soldered tight. When everything is in readiness water is turned in and the entire system of soil and vent pipes is filled up to the point where the highest vent pipe terminates over the roof of the building.

The iron pipe sewer, which is to drain the whole building was plugged at its lower end just where it emerges from the outer wall of the structure, and water was turned in yesterday till it was just ready to run out of the top of the highest vent pipe, which is eighty feet or more above the lower part of the plumbing work. The various pipes and their connections all stood the test well. The finer work, it is expected, will be completed ready for final inspection in about six weeks.

The work of the Plumbing Inspector is not always as nice as it may be supposed to be. If he attends to his business faithfully he must crawl for greater or less distances under buildings, so that he can see whether the lower part of the plumbing has been put in as it should be.

In a building like the Normal School annex there is a good deal of climbing needed. There is considerable walking on the joists where a misstep would drop a man fifty or sixty feet. Following the pipes he must make his way on dizzy scaffolds and then crawl through the roof and walk over it to low Mrs. Boggs's Treasure Box Was Looted—Langdon's Lazy Ways. Mrs. N. A. Boggs of Prescott, Ariz., has come to the conclusion that when ed confidence in the honesty affection of Edgar Moore was staking her regard upon a very uncertain object. It cost her about $400 to reach such a state of mind, and it is somewhat of a doubtful question as to whether she be-lieves the experience, however valua-ble, was worth the price paid. Mrs. Boggs, be it known, is quite a ble, was worth the price paid.

Mrs. Boggs, be it known, is quite a prosperous lodging-house keeper of Prescott. She does well at her line of business, and would have been several dollars richer today had she not been so unfortunate as to fall in with Moore. She met the latter at her home last winter, and became quite intimately acquainted with him. It had been her custom to keep what money and jewelry she had on hand in a box, which she deposited with the County Treasurer for safe keeping. Moore knew of this, and evidently keild some deep plans to capture a portion of the widow's cash. One day he, requested her to write her name for him several times on a letter back, apparently for fun merely. Mrs. Boggs always left instructions that her money box should not be taken from the Treasurer without a written order from herself, delivered either in person or by Dr. Bowen, a friend. She had sent by Bowen for the same a number of times, and it had always been carried and delivered in safety. At the time she last sent it to the office it contained a gold bar and money aggregating in value nearly $500.

Moore came to this city early in the year, and, soon after arriving here, wrote to Mrs. Boggs, asking her to come out and jom him, sending her to come out and jom him, sending her to come out and is city she was met by the reached this city she was met by the man and went with him to'a house at the corner of First and Hill streets, where the couple stopped for several days. winter Fair with Moore, when she reached this city she was met by the man and went with him to a house at the corner of First and Hill streets, where the couple stopped for several days. Moore had but a small amount of money, but he took pains to inquire of Mrs. Boggs how much there was in the box out in Artzona. A few days later he displayed $600 in money, and, after some inquiry, Mrs. Boggs learned that during her absence the box had been taken out of the Prescott office and returned again. Believing that it had been tampered with, she ordered by telegraph that it be opened, when it was found that the money had been taken, and that but few of the valuables remained. Bowen had received an order, apparently signed by Mrs. Boggs, from Los Angeles, directing him to ship the box to her. It afterward came back to him and he redeposited it. Mrs. Boggs was convinced that Moore had forged the Arders, and she accordingly procured his arrest, on the criminal charge of grand larceny.

The trial was on in Department One yesterday afternoon, before a jury and considerable testimony for the prosecution was taken.

A. G. Oliver, Treasurer of Yavapai county, Artz., was first sworn. He said that when he assumed office he found the box belonging to Mrs. Boggs in the vault. The box was last left in his care some time in February. It was sealed up at the time, and bore Mrs. Boggs's name, together with instructions to deliver it to no one exspot the lady herself on a certain perforn hamed, who would present an order for the same. About a week later the man Bowen, to whom it was directed that the box be delivered when taken out, presented an order, drawn in proper form, and received the box. The order was dated at Los Angeles and signed regularly by Mrs. Boggs, when the box came back it was brought by Bowen and bore a Wells-Fargo stamp.

Later a telegram was received from Mrs. Boggs, and, acting upon instructions contained therein, the Treasurer opened the box and found therein some jewelry and a few coins. The box was then sent to opened the box and found therein some jewelry and a few coins. The box was they sent to Mrs. Boggs, in care of the Chief of Police of this city.

Mrs. N. A. Boggs took the stand and dold the following story: "I live at Prescott, Ariz. I have lived there for tun years. I keep boarders and loan out money, when I have it, to spare. I met Moore last year, He came to my house to board and stayed there until some time in January. He finally left, saying that he was going to Pasadena. He afterward wrote to me and asked me to come to California, sending me money for that purpose. I yeame to Los Angeles in response to lais letter. He met me at the depot and we went to a lodging-house on Hill street. Moore asked me about the money I had in the box. I told him that there was about $400 there, and that I had loaned $600 just before coming to this city. I left the box in the care of Mr. Bowen, to deliver to Mr. Oliver's care.

"On the night I reached town, as we were going to supper, Moore pulled gome money out of Mr. Oliver's care.

"On the night I reached town, as we were going to supper, Moore pulled gome money out of Mr. Dooket and remarked that the coin was all he had to run him until he worked up a acheme. I told him that it was rather a small amount to keep two people very long. He also told me what the acheme was which he referred to. Some time after this he pulled out some more money, and said sthat he had been paid too. He gave me a $50 bill and said: 'Now, you can go back to Prescott as soon as you want to; there are no strings on you." When we had remad the room he counted over the money, and I saw that there was $600 of it."

FAILURE TO PROVIDE

The case will be resumed today.

FAILURE TO PROVIDE.

Charles Langdon, accused of failing to provide for his family according to his ability, was before Justice Bartholomew yesterday for trial. From the evidence given it appeared that Langdon is afflicted with a well-advanced and chronic attack of laziness. In fact his little wife, who gave some sharp testimony while on the stand, seemed firmly convinced that her husband had been born lazy. She said that Langdon had refused work when it was offered him, and that he had almost ruined several places which he rented by allowing them to go uncultivated and without irrigation. At one time she had cultivated and cared for corn growing upon a fifteen-acre place, and, after it had started to mature, Langdon wanted to move away, saying: "Let the 4-n corn go to h-ll."

Of late the family have been living at Prospect Park, and a number of friends of the complaining witness were present yesterday at the trial to corroborate the testimony as referred to, but the case was cut short by a motion to dismiss the charge. This was done in order that a complaint more comprehensive in its nature might be drawn up, and the motion was granted.

A CRUEL HUSBAND. Extreme cruelty and failure to provide were the causes upon which Judge Van Dyke granted Gracieuse Mirandette a divorce from Joseph Mirandette Van Dyke granted Gracieuse Mirandette a divorce from Joseph Mirandette yesterday.

It was Mrs. Mirandette's second marriage experience, and probably will be her last. She testified on the stand that she was wedded to her husband in May of last year, and had lived with him for a few months thereafter. Shortly after the marriage the couple moved into their house on the East Side, Mrs. Mirandette taking her little girl, by a former husband, with her. The lord of the household behaved himself in a becoming manner for awhile, but eventually he dropped back into his old habits of dissipation. One night he came home very much under the influence of liquor and created a diversion by driving his wife and her child out of doors. He also struck Mrs. Mirandette in the mouth and knocked out several of her teeth. This performance was repeated on another occasion in a somewhat similar manner, and once the ugly husband pursued his wife with a gun in his hand. The harsh treatment became unbearable to Mrs. Mirandette, and for her own safety she was obliged to take refuge at the house of a neighbor.

After hearing evidence to the effect related, Judge Van Dyke ordered that the decree be granted, with costs against the defendant and $75 attorney's fees.

Revolution In Eating

has been brought about by the introduction of COTTOLENE, the new vegetable shortening. The discovery of this product, and the demonstration of its remarkable qualities, has attracted the widest interest. Hitherto the common shortening has been lard, or indifferent butter. Every one has probably suffered occasional discomfort from lard-cooked food: while it is well known that thousands are obliged to abstain entirely from everything of that kind. To such people, COTTOLENE is of peculiar value, widening as it does, the range of what may be eaten and enjoyed. COTTOLENE is a cooking marvel. It combines with the food—imparts to it a tempting color, a delicate flavor, and an appetizing crispness. No trace of greasiness remains to offend the taste, or disturb the digestion.

COTTOLENE is worthy of the careful notice of all those who value good food, of itself or for its hygienic properties.

The Market is Still On the Up Grade.

Eastern People Are Beginning to Invest Boldly.

Several Good Sales Made at Very Fair Figures.

k in the real estate market. act it is not too much to say that the demand for property is better than it has been since last June, when the flurry among the banks brought the embryo boom, which was then developin real estate, to an untimely end. DASTERNERS INVESTING.

Investors from the East are begin ning to take hold in earnest. Many of them have been "nosing around" for several months before they could make up their minds to take off their clothes and plunge in, but they are now begining to strike out in a way that means business, apparently realiz-ing the truth of what The Times has for a long time preached, namely, that real estate will never be any lower in Los Angeles than it is today, and that t is not likely to remain at present rices very long.

Several encouraging sales have been made to investors from the other side of the mountains during the week and quite a number of other deals are under way. It looks very much as if we were going to have a lively summer in the real estate market. In spite of the dull times which prevail throughout the country. Indeed, it would not be surprising if a recent idea which was advanced in these columns should materialize and we should have during the present summer a repetition, on a small scale, of the summer of 1887, when such an enormous business was done by speculators and investors who expected to sell out at a big advance to the crowds of Eastern people who it was supposed would come to Southern California in the winter of that year. It is scarcely necessary to remark that the market today is in a very different and far healthier condition than it was in 1887. Then prices of property were absurdedly inflated. Men who could not afford to hold property were buying rgift and left on a margin, and it was easy to see that the day of reckoning could not be far distant. Today real estate values are on a reasonable and solid basis. That is to say, they are based upon figures that will leave the purchaser a good interest on his money when he improves the property. In addition this, of course, he has the prospect of a rise in value. It is not, therefore, surprising that many Eastern people who have been carefully investigating the condition of affairs here should have come to the conclusion that there is big money in Los Angeles "dirt" at present prices.

Now that the ice has been broken, we may expect to see a steady increase prices very long. Several encouraging sales have be is big money in Los Angeles of the present prices.

Now that the ice has been broken, we may expect to see a steady increase in the demand for property on part of outsiders who have come to this section for the purpose of investing or settling. In such cases the actions of buyers remind one of a band of sheep. They all stand huddled together outside a gate until one of the quadrupeds, more plucky than his companions, makes a break, when they all tumble over each other in their anxiety to follow him. One day this week an episode occurred in a local real-estate office which forcibly reminded one of boom times. A recent arrival in Los Angeles rushed into the office and asked the agent how much he wanted for a certain lot in the southwestern part of the city. The agent told him that the price was $700, whereupon the man produced a check-book, and, writing a check for the amount, turned it over to the dealer and departed with the air of a man who had got a sure-enough bargain.

The same gentleman has purchased 120 'eet on West Seventh street, near Union avenue, for $3000.

William S, Bowers sold 150 feet square in the South Bonnie Brae tract, at the southeast corner of Bonnie Brae and Ninth streets, for $5200. He then purchased the opposite corner.

Clara F. Robbins and her brother, people of considerable means, who recently came from Dakota, have paid $11,000 cash for a block of about two and a half acres on Bellevue avenue, beyond Alvarado street, known as the Hubbard place. It lies high, is finely improved, and is a beautiful home.

G. A. Dobinson has sold the southeast corner of Pearl and Seventh streets, 108x166 feet, for $12,000. The purchaser is Mrs. Wilson, who has also bought the adjoining corner on Flower street, running back to the Dobinson property. The purchaser will remove to this location the cottages from the Broadway lots which she recently bought.

Negotiations have been concluded for the sale of a lot on the west side of Broadway near Second street, but the principals are not yet prepared to make the particulars public. A deal is also under way for the sale of the Brotherton lot on Broadway, between Sixth and Seventh streets. It will thus be seen that the movement in Broadway property, which has been noted during the past few weeks is still under way.

It is reported that Eastern parties have purchased twenty acres of land just across the river and lying on both have purchased twenty acres of land just across the river and lying on both sides of First street, the price mentioned being $45,000. It is said to be the intention of the purchasers to establish here a zoological garden. It is true that the location would be central, but a more elevated section would perhaps be better fitted for such an enterprise. The land in question is low, having previously been part of the river location possesses is that the soil is very deep and rich. On the other hand there is more liability to frost along the river bottom than there would be at a greater elevation. The idea of a zoological garden is an excellent one and should certainly be carried out. Los Argeles has too little to offer visitors in the shape of legitimate amusements of this kind. There should be a zoological garden, also a good missum and above all things a fine betanical garden, after the style of the world-renowned garden at Kew, near London. Here, however, supposing such a garden to be located in the hill section of the city, it would not be necessary to construct acres upon acres of glass houses, as the most delicate plants could be raised in the open air.

It is encouraging to note that the money market is becoming easier, as this cannot fail to have a beneficial ef-fect on the real estate market. Dur-ing the month of April the total amount of money loaned on real estate mortgages in this county was $920,421. The Invator publishes a statement showing the real estate loans made during the month by the banks, trust companies and building associations, the total amount of which was $542,487, or more than one-half of all the loans. This shows that our financial institutions are beginning to unloosen their purse-strings again. One of the loans made during the month was $375,000, borrowed by E. J. Baldwin from the German Savings and Loan Society at 7½ per cent. A ten years' loan was also made by Jacob Kuhrts to the Turaverein Germania on their new building, for $30,000 at 8½ per cent. These rates are much easier than any that could have been obtained a few months ago.

THE SOUTHERN SECTION.

THE SOUTHERN SECTION. In the southern part of Los Angeles the march of improvement still con-tinues. Work is now under way on tinues. Work is now under way on the grading, graveling and sidewalking of Central avenue from Washington to Thirtieth street in the Adams-street tract, which promises to become one of the most popular residence tracts of the city. The projectors of this tract have wisely taken precautions to keep out cheap buildings by inserting an improvement clause. In their contracts. One of the advantages which this section possesses is the character of the soil. Vegetation grows here almost spontaneously.

THE PASADENA ELECTRIC ROAD. The public is rather at sea in regard to the proposed electric railroad or railroads to Pasadena. A few weeks

The public is rather at sea in regard to the proposed electric railroad or railroads to Pasadena. A few weeks ago the Supervisors granted a franchise for an electric railroad from the city limits to South Pasadena, to a party of capitalists, including A. McNally, the well-known publisher of Chicago. It was understood that these gentlemen intended to go to work at once and build a first-class road from Pasadena to this city, which was afterward to be extended to Santa Monica. Then came the Consolidated Electric Railway Company, with a similar project. That company applied to the City Council for a franchise over certain streets and elsewhere. The Mayor vetoed the ordinance granting the franchise, his object in doing so being, as he stated, to protect the people from having unused tracks upon their streets. In spite of the veto, the ordinance was passed, the company, through its attorney, verbally promising to surrender a franchise, which they held on certain streets east of Main street.

Now, it may be that the Consolidated Company really means to build a second electric railroad to Pasadena, although it is proper to say that much doubt exists in the public mind on the subject. In the first place, it is not to be supposed that two electric railways between points which already have two steam railways in operation could be made financially successfully. One line would undoubtedly pay, while two would be likely to lose money. Another thing which makes the public is concerned, it is, of course, a case of "the more the merrier," when it comes to building railways, but it is in the interest of the public to see a line constructed that tyfil prove remunerative to its projectors, and justify them in giving prompt and efficient service.

ANOTHER PROPOSED RAILWAY.

Yet another street railway franchise

ANOTHER PROPOSED RAILWAY Yet another street railway franchise has been asked for from the Council. This is for a double-track railway, the power to be furnished by electricity or cable. The routes proposed are as follows:

Santa Fe avenue, thence southerly to Second street, to Hewitt street, to Third street, to Main street, to Third street, to Main street, to Fifteenth street, to Hill street, to Fitteenth street, to Figueroa street, to Sixteenth street, to The west city line. Also, commencing at Sixteenth and Oak streets, thence southerly to Washington street, to Union avenue, to Hoover street. Also, commencing at Main and Eighth streets, thence westerly to Flower streets, thence westerly to Flower streets, thence westerly to Flower street, to Tenth street, to Pearl street, to Tenth street, to Alvarado street, thence northerly to Seventh street, to the west city line.

It is an encouraging sign to see that capitalists are again beginning to invest in street railways here. In view of past experiences, however, citizens would like to have the Council set forth very plainly in the franchise which they grant, the conditions under which the roads are to be operated, in order that we may not have any more systems running a mule car once a day over their line to keep the franchise from being forfeited.

COUNTRY REAL ESTATE.

COUNTRY REAL ESTATE.

Another encouraging sign of the times is the fact that in spite of the dry season the demand for country property still keeps up. Several encouraging sales of acreage have been made recently at good prices in this and adjoining counties. Among others is one of 220 acres at Buena Park in Orange county, by James Whitaker to S. C. McKnight, for $29,000. This northern section of Orange county has been developed very rapidly of late and promises soon to become one of the most thickly settled portions of Southern California. This is especially true of the country around Fullerton, which has developed remarkably since the boom. Andrew McNally of Chicago, who recently bought an extensive tract of land there, is going to improve it in first-class shape, planting out thousands of fine shade trees to make a park and also creating an artificial lake. After these improvements are made it is understood that Mr. McNally will sell off the adjoining land in small tracts.

BUILDING. COUNTRY REAL ESTATE.

The sound of the hammer and saw is still heard from one end of the city to another. The number of buildings which are going up in Los Angeles at present is really quite remarkable, and excites the astonishment of visitors who come from places where stagna-tion prevails. It is certainly a sign of the confidence which our citizens have

Meantime, although we are approaching what is usually known as the dull season, there is no abatement in the demand for houses to rent. In fact, eligible residences within easy distance of the business center are as difficult to secure today as they were six months ago.

Flats are becoming popular. A Mr. Dillon is about to erect a block of flats at the northwest corner of Seventh and Hill streets.

The Builder and Contractor notes the following contracted new work:

Flans are being prepared for a dividing on the west side of Main streets. It will be a three-story brick, with stone trimmings. There will be two stores on the ground floor, and the balance will be devoted to the uses of non-sectarian missions. It will cost about $15,000.

M. A. Gould is about to erect a six-room cottage on Twenty-eighth street, near Main; cost $1300.

P. L. Budinger will build five tenements, two flats and a residence on Eleventh and Flower, cost about $7000.

Plans are being prepared for a two-story, sixteen-room residence for Mr. Botillier, to be erected on the corner of Elighth and Los Angeles streets; cost $3000.

terious disappearance of Clarence E. Dodge, a well-known young man of this city, whose relatives appear to think that he may have been the victim of foul play.

From the statement made by his brother, Joseph M. Dodge, who resides at No. 522 Temple street, it appears that about six weeks ago Clarence sold his ranch near Compton and returned to town with the proceeds, amounting to several hundred dollars. On March 24 last he registered at the United States Hotel, but on the following day he left for El Monte, where he remained until March 28. Meantime he wrote to his brother and other friends to the effect that he intended to return to Los Angeles in a day or two. As he failed to appear, however, and nothing further was heard of or from him, his brother made inquiries, with the result that he learned of Clarence's sudden departure, in the company of twelve strangers, who claimed to be miners, presumably on a prospecting trip into the mountains.

The missing man is described as 23 years of age, about 6 feet in height, weighing 158 pounds, smooth face and light hair, slightly stoop-shouldered. When last seen by his friends he wore a brownish-gray suit, sack coat, and soft white felt hat.

Sheriff Cline and Detective Insley left together for El Monte yesterday afternoon for the purpose of ascertaining something more definite about young Dodge's companions.

Crops and Markets. The few light showers which fell in this section last week did little if any good. In the first place there was searcely enough moisture to thoroughly et the surface of the ground and then the showers were followed by high and dry winds, which soon removed all moisture from the soil. Haying has begun in some localities with a yield that will fall far short of the promises of the early part of the season. Light frost, which formed Friday morning of last week in a number of places caused slight injury to tender vegetation, but no reports were received indicating damage to the fruit buds, except that cool nights and the lack of rain are causing the young fruit to drop some, which, in view of the very heavy bloom, will be beneficial as nding to increase the size and quality

The honey crop promises to be short in consequence of the continued cool, dry weather retarding the growth and bloom of wild flowers..

The rain which fell in the northern part of the State had considerable effect on the barley market in San Franisco, prices falling from 8 to 10 cents. Since then, however, there has been ething of a reaction and there is every prospect that the price of barley will again rise considerably between now and Christmas. In fact, one of the leading dealers stated this week that he would not be surprised to see it nuoted at $1.50 in Los Angeles before the year is over. While the northern part of the State has been benefited y the recent rain it should be remembered that the section south of Sacramento, where little or no rain has fallen, produces at least half the barley is raised in this State.

There has been a good demand for otatoes during the week and dealers have found difficulty in filling orders from their customers. Stocks of choice potatoes in San Francisco are very light. The local crop will probably be dry weather.

The following private dispatches have tion sales in the East and San Francisco on account of the fruit exchanges:

"NEW YORK, May 1.—Goodsell auctioned two cars of oranges for the exchanges today, probably from Rivermide, consisting of seedling and Mediterranean sweets at an average of about $1.90 per box."

"PHILADELPHIA, April 26.—Two cars of California oranges were sold at auction on this date, one car averaged about $1.65 and the other car $1.80."

The exchanges have issued a circular in which they announce that the result of their season's operations, so far, members of the exchange have received good prices and that the expense of marketing the crop has been ess than was anticipated. At the same time it should be remembered that the final result of the season's operations cannot yet be given. When the re-turns are all in it will be soon enough to comment upon the work which has been accomplished by the new organization. Meantime it is pleasing to learn that the outlook for the organization is encouraging. If the exchanges have is year much more may be expected of them next season, after experience in the business.

No fruit raised in California has a greater future than the fig. We should at least supply the demand of the United States, which at present amounts to nearly 10,000,000 pounds annually. Los Angeles raises quite a crop of figs, and a good many trees have been planted during the past year.

Reduced Freight Rates.

One of the chief difficulties in the way of extending the business of ship-ping green fruits and vgetables from this section has been the cost of refrigeration. Growers of these products will be pleased to learn that in order fruits and vegetables from Southern California, the Santa Fe has made a big reduction in the rates of refrigeration, which ought to give a marked impetus to this important industry.

A dispatch was recently received from headquarters of the Santa Fe Company authorizing a severe cut in refrigeration charges on oranges, green fruits or vegetables from California mediate points. The dispatch states that the big cut is made down to or below cost to encourage the producers of this part of the State to make more shipments and to build up the industry to where it should have been long ago.
This is in keeping with the liberal policy which this company has displayed from the beginning in seeking to build up the industries of this section and will undoubtedly be appreciated by our producers. There is no reason green fruit and vegetable product of Southern California should not rival or even exceed in value that of citrus fruits.

The "Wonderful Pea."

A couple of weeks ago we printed an extract from an agricultural exchange published in the Southern States, dewhich has proved very successful in that section as a forage plant. We have received letters from several correspondents, asking where seed of this pea can be obtained. In looking through our files of pamphlets and statistics we find that in bulletin No. 103, issued by the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of California in December, 1893, the following men-

Station of the University of California in December, 1893, the following mention of this plant is made:

"Wonderful Cow Pea.—In view of the great industrial value of the cow pea in the Southern States there is a wide disposition to try it in California. We are fortunate in receiving from D. M. Dimmick, Esq., of Carpinteria, Santa Barbara county, a supply of seed of the new cow pea "Wonderful," which is believed to be the best of its kind. It yielded a very large amount of forage and peas for Mr. Dimmick and keeps green on his land until destroyed by frost. The pods are very long and carry as many as eighteen peas to the pod. It is not likely that it will do so well away from the coast, except perhaps on a moist of irrigated land, but it is worth a trial everywhere. Mr. Dimmick says the plant is about as tender as the Lima bean and should be planted about the same time, as it is liable to rot in the ground if planted too early. Put two peas in a hill, the hills eighteen inches apart in rows three feet wide. Seeds sent in small packets, 3c. each, by mail, postpaid."

It is probable that some of this seed may still be on hand at the experiment station, and our correspondents are recommended to write there. Otherwise it is possible that a supply might be obtained from Mr. Dimmick of Carpinteria.

Mexican Oranges.

(Pacific Rural Press.) Those who hold that our fruit-growers do not need protection are advised that official reports from the City of Mexico cite statistics bearing on the cultivation and shipment of Mexican oranges, and show shipment of Mexican oranges, and show that a big trade is being built up in the United States in the product. During last January and February there were 300 carloads of oranges shipped to the United States from the State of Sonora alone. A large number of carloads of the fruit were also shipped from Neueva Leon and Tamaulipas to Chicago and other markets in the United States.

Ripe and Unripe Bananas.

(James E. Humphrey in Popular Science Monthly:) Whether for shipment or for home consumption, the fruit cut as soon as it is "full"—that when it has reached its adult form and when it has reached its adult form and size, but is still quite green. The plant is cut off by a single blow of a ma-chete, wielded by a powerful arm. As it falls the bunch is caught, lopped off so,000,000 pounds of dried figs, besides an enormous home consumption.

The culture of the fig is only just beginning to receive that attention in California which it deserves. This is in a great measure owing to the fact that it is only within the last three or four years that the right varieties have been planted. Like most, of our early fruits, the blue fig was found growing at the missions by early settlers, and for years was the only variety propagated. Though excellent for home use, it is not a dryer, and the lack of any substitute led to the culture of the fig being much neglected. Several varieties of white figs have since been introduced, including the White Adriatic and Brown Smyrna, which, when properly dried, are equal to the imported article.

Now that it has been well established that the fig can be raised successfully in Southern California, a great measure owing to the fact that it has been well established that the fig can be raised successfully in Southern California, a great measure owing to the fact that it has been well established that the fig can be raised successfully in Southern California, a great measure owing to the fact to the condition of the fruit when comes from Jamaica. It is due still more to the condition of the fruit when comes from Jamaica. It is due still more to the condition of the fruit when cut when immature, as too many are, will turn yellow, yet never truly ripen, retaining always their hard texture and unripe taste. In Jamaica, as elsewhere, the competition of buyers leads the unscruption of the fruit will it is perfectly developed. Americans can full the more unavailing the efforts of honest buyers to the interior valleys and foothills. The warm, dry alluvial soil and climate of the interior valleys and foothills seem that any price. A little pains will soon enable one to distinguish good from por full, though it is difficult to give a general statement of the distinctive differences But, as a rule, it will be

Who is to Blame.

(Land and Water:) Some years ago, when it was first discovered that Riverside was especially adapted to the orange, the people in that vicinity were not slow to take advantage of this knowledge, and planted largely of were not slow to take advantage of this knowledge, and planted largely of the Washington navel variety, which was just at that time being introduced. The result was that in a few years the trees yielded abundant crops of the finest of fruit, which brought excellent prices, and the profits to the grower were simply fabulous. The people of Rivers'de became excited, and, vainly imagining that the Southern California orange belt did not extend beyond the Riverside district, fancied that they could dictate the market of the entire country. They were not satisfied to let the interest conform to the capital, but wanted the capital to conform to the interest. The price of orange land, orange trees and everything went up and up, until they were out of reach of men of moderate means. The Riverside people had things their own way for a long time, and boasted that they had more wealth per capita than any other community in the United States. Welk, perhaps they d'd have, and we are glad of it. But reverses must and will come First a drop in the market, then the frost. Bes'des this, it has developed that there are a dozen other places that will grow as good, if not better, fruit than Riverside, and are more free from frost and the land is cheaper. Now the Riverside people are discouraged, and declare there is no money in the business. It will not pay interest on investment. The reason is that they paid too much for their land and built too many fine houses. Their original outlay was too great and they have lived too high. To the man who will buy land at a reasonable price, where the cost of water is not too high, work and economize, orange culture offers fair inducements. If there is no money in oranges at Riverside, the people there are alone to blame, and they should not try to discourage the sale of orange lands in other places.

The capacity of the horse for work depends much upon his harness. Stiff harness tires and worries him. Oiling the harness will make it flexible and will also make it more durable. There is no better time for oiling harness than some stormy day on which outdoor work is forbidden by the weather. A mixture of three parts of neat's-foot oil to one part of beef tallow, is a splen-did application. A little lampblack may be added, to blacken the leather, and also a little castor oil, to prevent the mice from nibbling. But the best way to prevent the mice from nibbling the harness is to hang it in a tight closet and keep two or three good mousers about the barn.

The Cudahy Packing Cempany.

(American Cultivator:) What might have resulted if all the packing companies which have been projected in California during the last few years had had more meat and less real-estate scheme in their plans can be seen by the way in which the pork supply has been whittled down by the buyers for Cudahy of Los Angeles. Perhaps the side-tracking of our packing enterprises has given Cudahy a clearer field for slaughtering and legitimate packing business, and yet it is clear enough theoretically that we should pack in this State vastly more meat products than we now do. So long as we import such products by trainloads, and local packing enterprises are chiefly in the business of packing town lots for credulous customers, there will be no such development of the California stock interests as there should be. The Cudahy Packing Cempany.

Among the necessities of the poultry breeder is crushed bone. This comes in three forms: One as a finely-ground product, called bone meal; one as a coarser product, the particles being the size of a plump-grain of wheat, or a bit larger, and called granulated bone; and one still coarser, and sold under the term of chicken bone or crushed bone. The feeding values of these three forms are very similar, though the finer the bone the more quickly is it taken up by the system of the fowls. Bone meal is especially suitable for feeding very young chickens, and for use in mixing with ground grains in mashes and mixtures. Granulated bone is usually fed by itself and is suitable for chickens two months old and older, and for grown fowls. Chicken bone is suitable only for adult fowls.

Judging Fowls. (I. D. Tompkins in Fancier's Journal:) When rules are carefully and intelli-gently made governing the judging of any class of fowls with a view to their best development for utility as well as beauty, we American breeders will have beauty, we American breeders will have made a long stride in advancing our poultry interests, and $10 or $25 paid for a standard-bred bird which is one of the best of its type will then be considered as reasonable a price as $2 paid today for the mongrel or bird of unknown breeding.

True, it seems a small matter—a mere trife—this study and work of our leisure in the development of a certain type of hen for best egg-producers, but "trifles make perfection, and perfection is no trifle."

What Kind of Poultry Pays.

There is a larger proportion of farmers, perhaps, than in any other class of business men, who neglect to study their business sufficiently well to en able them to obtain the best possible result in the way of profit. A writer in the Journal of Agriculture says:

In these days of high civilization, of public schools, of books and newspapers without number, it seems almost a crime to be ignorant. In no branch of industry is knowledge more needed than in the dairy. Grand strides are being made in dairy progress and re-form. Old methods and habits are rapidly passing away, and a new order of conducting the business is being practiced, or else there is no profit. Dairy breeds are being improved, and dairy implements of long ago are fast being relegated to the flames and to the lumber-room, making way for the new

A Model Butter Ration.

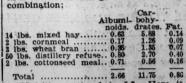

A prominent and successful farmer, watchful for everything advantageous to his business, with a view to ascer-taining the true value of distillery refuse or still slop as a butter and fat-producing food recently sent a sample of the refuse from the Spring Lane Distillery to the Country Gentleman, an excellent farm journal published at Buffalo, N. Y., asking for an analysis

Buffalo, N. Y., asking for an analysis of the same and an estimate of its comparative value as a food for cattle, at the same time stating the price of bran and shorts to be $16 per ton, hay $10, and corn 40 cents per bushel.

The journal referred to furnishes the information asked and the analysis in the following language:

"Distillery refuse from corn mash is 90.06 per cent. water and the digestible nutrients are the following: Albuminoids, 1.6; carbohydrates, 5.4; fat, 0.8; nutritive ratio, 1 to 4.6. It is valued at 16 cents per 100 pounds. This is a very nitrogenous and fat-producing food. When properly fed it is not injurious to stock. Women in the Dairy.

Prof. W. A. Henry, of the Wisconsin-Station, in a recent letter to Hoard's

Station, in a recent letter to Hoard's Dairyman, says:

"Just at this time dairying offers an especially inviting field to young women, and I have wondered why more of them did not see this and fit themselves for positions which they certainly might fill with credit as well as profit. The making of fine butter is a part of farm work which is becoming more and more differentiated and separate from the other duttes. The careful farmer finds that it does not pay to add to the numerous dutter. He will either send his milk off to the factory, or else set apart the work of butter-making, giving it over to a son, of daughter, or some one employed for the purpose. Why should not young women prepare themselves to take charge of the butter work on a dairy farm in a private creamery? Scarcely a month passes but what I have calls for young men to take up this line of work. I feel quite certain that in some cases young women would be entirely satisfactory to the inquirers. The work of butter-making calls for qualities possessed by many women. It is not so confining as housework, and less wearing than school-teaching. Here is an opportunity for those who believe in the advancement of women. Some of the advocates of larger spheres of usefulness for women seem to think that it covers only the learned professions—the law market and on the tables of civilized beings, woman had better enlarge, her sphere by taking up dairying as an art well worthy of her skill and ability."

"You see we go through life with a rush. I have no time for anything. Singing every night and rehearsing every day, with whatever time there may be left spent in railroad cars-that is my yearly routine. Of course the result of this sort of thing is a severe strain upon the nervous system. The effort to identify one's self with the character upon the stage is very trying.

"I have frequently found myself, after a particularly successful engagement, so nervous that eating and sleeping seemed luxuries with which I had parted forever, and I wondered if fame or fortune achieved at such a price were not too dearly purchased after all. results the department relies to a considerable extent in its recommendations when asked what varieties of vegetables and fruits should be grown by farmers. The dispatch also remarks that unfortunately many people think they know a better use to which to put them, and resort to many tricks to secure large quantities, which they seek to use to plant their gardens for market purposes. We, did not suppose market gardeners had confidence enough in government, seeds to base a crop venture upon them. This is the business which Secretary Morton thinks should be radically changed, and we think he is right. It is announced that seeds will no longer be sent to personal applicants, from the department. The whole distribution this year will be through Congressmen.

Future of Wheat Growing.

(Oroville Register:) Is it not true that wheat has been getting cheaper and cheaper every year? If one thinks otherwise, examine the statistics. Sea otherwise, examine the statistics. Sea-son after season shows that the farmer gets less and less for his wheat, and this will continue until we cease to ex-port grain to foreign markets. Will ceasing to export increase the price? It will. The home consumption of wheat in the United States is three of wheat in the United States is three times the quantity shipped to Europe, yet the price of all we now consume is fixed by the price of that we export. If the American farmers will decrease their crop by one-fourth, they will receive more for what they then grow than they now receive for a full crop. Whom do we compete against? Not England, France, Germany or other nations like ownselves, but against India, where labor is only 6 cents a day, against the cheap labor and very low-priced lands of South America and against the servile labor and cheap lands of Russia.

Paine's celery compound has made thousands of people well. It has saved thousands of women from nervous prostration. It has made the weak strong. It has cured where everything else has failed. (Pacific Rural Press.) A dispatch from Washington gives some statistics of the government seed business. Every member and Senator is allowed 20,000 packages, which aggregates 8,000,000 packages, which aggregates 8,000,000 packages that are sent out yearly. These seeds fill 70,000 large mail sacks. The seeds are intended for experimental purposes only. Those who receive them are expected to make reports to the department, and on these results the department, and on these the peoply when asked what varieties of vegetables and fruits should be grown by farmers. The dispatch also remarks that unfortunately many people think they know a better use to which to the country. From 1856 to 1860 we averaged 109,000,000 bushels a year, while from 1885 to 1890 we averaged 109,000,000 bushels. For 1893 the quantity was 174,826,342 bushels.

A Drunken Mulatto Causes a Fight.

Trustee-Personal and General Mention - Local News

PASADENA, May 4.— (Special Correspondence.) The entertainment given hy the colored people at Williams's Hall Thursday evening was enlivened by a near approach to a free fight, the blame for which seems to rest solely on one man, Hance Tugner, a mulatto, who arrived at the hall in an intoxicated condition, and who proceeded to make things merry from the start.

Turner came to the hall accompanied by a man named Jones. There was a row at the door with the man who took tickets, and the interference of an outsider precipitated a fight. Turner took out a large pocketknife and began to wield it vigorously upon all who came within reach. John Broadway, a Santa-Fe porter, was cut on the hand; Will Turner, a brother of the assailant, received a gash or two; and Dave Coyle and Robert Shaw were cut on the hand; while attempting to quiet the trouble. Finally Turner cut himself on the leg, and that ended it. Friday morning he was taken into custody and arraigned before Recorder Rossiter on the charge of assault with a deadly weapon. His examination was set for Monday morning at 10 o'clock, pending which he is out on ball in the sum of $250.

NORTH CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.
The annual meeting of the North Consregational Church was held Thursday svening with a large attendance. The reports showed that all the expenses of the church for the year had been met, and that the membership of the congregation and Sunday-school had largely increased, and that a gain of 25 per cent, had been made in the membership of the church. A fine library was provided during the year for the Sunday-school.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Trustees, Dr. Henry M. Field, H. K. W. Bent, M. D. Painter, J. H. Vedder, Edward Linney; treasurer, J. H. Vedder; Sunday-school superintendent, J. H. Woodworth. The pastor, Rev. H. T. Staats, was presented with a substantial token of the good will of the congregation in the shape of a well-filled purse.

AT HOTEL GREEN.

One of the most delightful entertainments of the season at Hotel Green was that afforded the guests Thursday evening. Mrs. Walter Raymond, who with her husband, the famous hotel man, has been spending the week at the house, kindly consented to sing, and the several solos given by her were heartily enjoyed by the many present. She has a voice of exquisite sweetness and great power, and her work was among the best that Passadenians have ever been privileged to listen to. Prof. Morrison of Los Angeles, a former instructor of Mrs. Raymond, was also present and contributed several solos, which added much to the pleasure of the occasion. The latter part of the evening was devoted to a variety of social enjoyments. ANOTHER HANDSOME STRUCTURE

ANOTHER HANDSOME STRUCTURE. It is stated on good authority that the purchaser of J. D. The sale was reported in these columns some weeks ago, but it was not then known that Mr. Roberts was the purchaser.

Meeting of the City Trustees—The Whitton Case Considered at Length.

POMONA, May 4.—(Special Correspondence). As previously announced, the Board of City Trustees met at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening to hear R. J. Whitton, proprietor of the North Main-street saloon in his answer to a charge of violating sec. 6 of ordinance No. 104, in that he sold liquors to P. C. Tonner and Will Owens, contrary to the "habitual drunkard" clause of said section, etc., only three of the five Trustees being in their seats. The board had the assistance and advice of the City Attorney in the examination, and the derendant was represented by Attorney Ed Fleming. Only two witnesses were examined, namely the defendant, whitton, and the City Marshal, John W. Lorbeer. After hearing the testimony of these witnesses and the attorneys, it was finelly decided that as there had been ho service of a notice "not to sell" to these two parties, and that there was no intentional volation of the ordinance, the compolant was alismissed by a unanimous wore of the three Trustees present. There was, however, a gentle reminder, that a repetition of the act, if brought to their official knowledge of the board, would not be so healthy for the accused as in this instance.

The matter of an extension of street sprinkling was then brought up, and resulted in the clerk being instructed to advertise for bids for two men and teams for might service, and one man and teams for might service, and one man and teams for might service, and one man and teams for day service upon the basis of ten hours' work a day, the bids to be opened at the next meeting of the board on Thursday evening, May 17, thus giving the required ten days' notice by publication twice in the city official paper.

The Street Committee was also authorized to have the old city sprinkling tank and trucks repaired, and to purchase a suitable wagon for its use as a sprinkling cart. ORANGE COUNTY.

SANTA ANA, May 4.—(Special Corre-pondence.) A meeting was held in the arlors of the Brunswick Hotel Thursday afternoon by a number of prominent residents of this city for the purpose of considering the matter of establishing an ice factory in this city. W. H. Spurgeon was elected chairman of the meeting, and J. C. Galloway of the Commercial Bank was elected chairman of the meeting, and J. C. Galloway of the Commercial Bank secretary.

R. H. Sanborn of Tustin, one of the committee appointed at the meeting held last week to ascertain whether or not a suitable building could be secured in the city in which to establish the factory, reported that he had made a pretty thorough investigation, and that so far he had not found any that he thought would answer the purpose.

Estimates were submitted showing that a plant to make five tons of ice daily could be put in, and the cost of ice from which would not be more than $2 per ton.

A communication from G. E. Voorhees of Morristown, N. J., was received and read, stating that the writer would take a half interest in the factory providing satisfactory arrangements could be made with hit? for operating the same Alengthy discussion followed the reading of this communication, during which George Wilton presented the question of freight and waste in shipping ice from Los Angeles. He stated that the freight on Ice from Los Angeles to Santa Ana was 33 per ton, and that the waste was from 30 to 40 per cent.

Arrangements were then made for the committee to prepare three subscription lists to which the names of stockholders should be solicited, the capital stock to be 10,000 shares, at $25 per share, and the stockholders to be guaranteed their ice at from 50 cents to 56 cents per 100 pounds. The name of W. H. Burnham of Orange was added to the committee, and G. A. Edgar was appointed to fill the vacancy on the same committee made by the resignation of C. C. Fife, after which the meeting adjourned to meet at the call of the secretary.

THE ODD FEILLOWS' HOME.

The Street Committee was also authorized to have the old city sprinkling tank and trucks repaired, and to purchase a suitable wagen for its use as a sprinkling cart.

The bandstand matter was then mentioned, but as one thought that there should be a guarantee from the band that a weekly concert for a stated time would be given free of charge, and another that the city should absolutely own and control it, having it built so as to remove it if necessary; another that an income could be derived from it during the campaign from the various political parties; and still another that each party would claim that it had, a right as taxpayers, etc., to use it free, it was laid over to a future meeting, when, perhaps, a full board would be present.

Adjourned to May 17, at 7:30 o'clock p.m. The motion for a new trial and arrest of judgment in the cuse of P. C. Tonner was heard by Recorder Youngs during the day and denied, the fine imposed being fixed at $50, or twenty-five days in jail. A notice of appeal was then given, and upon this the court then dismissed P. C. Tonner for one hour upon his own recognizance in which either to pay the fine or make a $200 hond.

THE ODD FELLOWS' HOME.

The citizens of Anahelm, and the northern portion of the county are making a splendid fight to secure the Odd Fellows' Home in Anahelm. They have offered the Del Campo Hotel for that purpose at $10,000, a remarkably low figure, considering that the property originally cost over $40,000. The tract upon which the hotel is situated contains about twenty acres, and is situated in a most convenient and attractive portion of the city of Anahelm.

The citizens of Anahelm and vicinity are thoroughly awake on this matter, and are doing all that they can to induce the Grand Lodge to accept the Del Campo site offer. With this object in view several prominent residents of Anahelm, among whom are Messrs, J. P. Zeyn, Sam Hill, H. A. McWilliams, Champlain and Williams, will leave for San Francisco Sunday to be present at the meeting of the Grand Lodge Tuesday, at which it is expected that the matter of selecting the site will be settled.

A COMING FIGHT.

For some time past it has been understood that the residents of the eastern portion of the county who have been securing water from the Santiago Careek for irrigation purposes, would probably bring suit against the owners of the big San Joaquin ranch for diverting the water from the creek in the Santiago Canyon, and converting it across the hills to the broad acres of "Joaquin," but up to within a few weeks definite arrangements for the prosecution of the suit had not been made, but it is generally understood now that counsel has been employed, and that the legal phase of the subject will soon be brought to the surface. This will be a very important suit not only to many of the residents of the eastern portion of the county, but to the San Joaquin ranch people as well.

SANTA ANA BREVITIES. New Water Supply Utilized—Substantial Incresse—Local Notes.

SANTA MONICA, May 4.—(Special Correspondence.) Within a day or two the Santa Monica Water Company will have completed the connections which will add 50 per cent. to their capacity. Before the rains began last fall a series of tunnels were run into the sides of the ravine at the headwaters of the supply, with the result that the flow was developed from fifty to seventy-five inches. This additional water has not been needed nor utilized during the winter, and before it was turned into the reservoir a new catchment pit and a new pipe line were necessary. The company has just completed both improvements, the latter representing 9000 feet of new twelve-inch piping from the sandbox to the reservoir. The new tunnels are now being connected with the head of the line, and not later than Monday or Tuesday next the whole will be a supply of water equal in quality to that of any locality in Southern California, and fully equal in quantity to the increased demand for the domestic

ANAHEIM.

ANAHEIM, May 4. — (Special Correspondence.) There is perhaps no other one subject that is interesting the residents of Anaheim, Fullerton and Placentia districts, at the present time, so much as the probable disorganization of the Anaheim Irrigation District. The people generally are demanding that the district be disorganized, but the "powers that be" are strong and influential, and the people are having a rather troublesome time to shape matters to their interest. Some time ago a petition, signed by several hundred voters in the district, was presented to the board of directors of the irrigation district, asking it to disorganize, but it was claimed that many of the signatures to the petition were not legal, therefore the matter was delayed for the time being until a more thorough investigation could be made. At a recent meeting of the directors the committee appointed to examine the names upon the petition made the following report, which will, for a time, delay the object to be attained by the people, but which will, in course of time, from present indications, work around to the benefit of the people generally. But here is the report:

ANAHEIM (Cal.,) May 1, 1894.

To the board of directors of the Anaheim Irrigation District —Gentlemen: Your committee to which was referred the document presented by E. R. Amerige to this board at its meeting of April 13, 1894, for examination, now presents its report as follows:

First.—We find that said document consists of fifteen several parts put together with temporary fastenings, fourteen of which purport to be several pertitions to this board asking for the abandonment of further operations by the district; and one purports to be a remonstrance against certain proceedings of the board. Second.—That the total number of names appearing upon all of said instruments in the aggregate is 568.

Third.—Of that number we assume 25 to be genuine signatures of the persons bearing such names respe

Fifth.—To the instrument purporting to be a remonstrance there are four names subscribed which are included in the Supervisors Act on Suggestions subscribed which are included in the above numbers. Sixth—In the total 563 names there are several which do not appear upon the last preceding assessment roll of this district. Seventh—The last preceding assessment roll of this district contains 1016 names as

We therefore recommend that said in We therefore recommend that said instruments be not entertained as a petition requiring this board to call a special election in said district, and that no further proceedings be had by this board in the matter, until such petition shall be perfected and made sufficient, and for that purpose that the petitioners be permitted to so amend their said petition and present the same anew.

Respectfully submitted.

A sad story comes from Black Mountain, where an old soldier, who starved in Andersonville Prison, is starving now, almost within sight of the city. In the march with Sherman to the sea he was conspicuous for bravery, after receiving a gunshot wound in the shoulder. His name is E. P. Smith. He served through the war in the Thirty-second Ohio. For some years he has been drawing a pension, which has long been almost his sole means of support. In March he was notified that his pension, being of the dependent class, had been suspended for investigation. A physician examined him but the department refused to accept the statement, and Smith is in danger of losing his mind over the prospect of all his support being cut off.

J. P. Howell, an ex-grocery keeper who left the town under suspicious circumstances, was located in Los Angeles and subsequently apprehended at Indio. He was brought back here and $340 was found tied around his skin. A Miss Beck, whose father put up some money to help Howell in the grocery business, was found in Los Angeles under an assumed name. She had clerked for Howell and is understood to have either left San Diego with him or joined him subsequently. What came near being a shooting scrape occurred at the Courthouse on Thursday. J. W. Hughes, an attorney, had been severely questioning Frank C. Tower, who spent a year in jail on an indictment on a charge of attempt to murder Frank Bates. After the witnesses left the stand Thursday some hot words passed between Tower and Hughes. Tower made a threat with a pistol and Hughes with a knife, but before they could reach each other they were separated.

The Body Was Illegal, But it Appears to Have Gone to the Bottom of Things-News Notes and Personals from Redlands.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 4.—(Special Correspondence.) However severely the late grand jury may be criticised, and notwithstanding it was an illegal body in the eyes of the law, because of having one member who had been convicted of a felony, the County Supervisors are actone member who had been convicted of a felony, the County Supervisors are acting upon some of the recommendations made by that body. In fact, more of the suggestions of the late grand jury have been taken under consideration by the board than is usual. The recommendation was made that a matron be employed at the County Hospital. This officer had been dispensed with in the conviction of a supervisor of the county of the been dispensed with in the interest of economy. But this left no adequate means of caring for female patients. The board acted upon this, and has appointed

Another suggestion acted upon was the placing of a speaking tube between the offices of the County Clerk and the Recorder.

Another thing now under consideration is the fitting up of the room in the Hali of Records occupied as the janitor's room, for a place of safe keeping of exhibits belonging to the papers of record in the County Clerk addice.

The one thing recently acted upon by the Supervisors which has caused more comment than all the others, is the appointment of an expert to ascertain the exact amount of fees in the office of the County Clerk remaining uncollected, during the incumbency of the present Clerk, and the term of office of his predecessor, and to take legal steps to recover the same. The expert has been appointed in the person of W. R. Porter, and it is expected that the other will follow. The action of the Supervisors has been very severely criticised in taking this move, because of the well-known animosity existing between the chairman of the board and the County Clerk. The fast is that this action was taken upon motion of the Supervisors of the Hedlands district, who made several attempts before getting the board to take action, and without having consulted with the chairman. The object of this investigation is not clearly understood. The statutes of 1870 and 1871 provide that the County Clerk shall collect for each entry in the minute book 25 cents; for swearing each witness, 25 cents; for each entry in the minute book 25 cents; for each entry in the minute book 26 cents; for swearing each witness, 26 cents. In connection with this case, several people have been subjected to considerable notoriety through the wild efforts of the Evening Express to magnify it into a sensation. Among others, Theodore Schmidt was dragged into the case in a wholly uncalled-for manner, for which an apology was printed yesterday afternoon, and Rev. Will A. Knighten, who married the couple, has been subjected to considerable criticism for the part he took in the affair, as reported in the Express. Mr. Knighten yesterday called at the Times office and said that, in justice to himself, he thought the public should know the facts of his connection with the matter. Katz and Miss Ruthard, Mr. Knighten said, came to his house about 19:30 o'clock Wednesday night, accompanied by I. H. La Veen, city editor of the Express, and Deputy County Clerk Seaver. La Veen presented his card and introduced himself, saying: "Mr. Knighten, I have brought you a wedding," etc. He vouched for the couple, and the Hoense being regular, and he then performed the marriage ceremony. La Veen and Seaver being witnesses. Nothing was said to him about Rabbi Blum and a colored preacher having previously refused to marry the couple, nor was there any intimation that there was anything irregular about the proceeding. He only did what any other minister would have done under the circumstances, and does not think that he is subject to censure because he was tricked by men who, up to that time, he felt justfied in placing confidence in.

He and Searle had a few words about some trivial personal matter, when Cullotts suddenly grabbed a heavy mallet and struck the railroad man on the head with it. Fruit Pitting Machine

It is practically all its workings and is capable of handling one ton of truit per hour (apricots, peaches or prunes.) Having large orchards of my own in Ventura I know whereof I speak as I have cut 1801 tons of my own truit with it in the past four years.
